NEALE SEVERELY
HURT IN ASSAULT
BY POLITICIANS
FROM ST. LOUIS

Former Chairman of Democratic State Committee Beaten and Kicked on Steps of State Capitol and Move Is Made to Investigate Attack.

HIS PART IN WOMEN'S CONTEST THE CAUSE

Witnesses Say Edward J.
Hogan, Beverage Inspector, and John Byrne,
State Committee Member,
Struck Neale.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept.
15.—Ben M. Neale of Greenfield, until two weeks ago chairman of the Democratic State Committee, was severely beaten on the steps of the State capitol last night in "gang style" by a gang of St. Louis Democratic politicians, following his opposition to the scheme of the Democratic City Committee to have under its complete direction the selection of committee women in St.
Louis.

Neale was knocked down, struck many times in the face and was beaten and kicked after he was down. His face is swollen, his eyes are "black," his lip is cut, and he has a long deep cut on the bridge of his forehead, which probably was caused by his head striking a corner of the stone balustrade at the landing at the top of the steps.
Neale said he knew only one of his assailants, and refused to reveal publicly the name of that one. The State Committee, acting in the believe that one of the assailants was a member of the State Committee, and another a job holder under appointment of Gov. Gardner, met in special session last night and appointed a committee to investigate the attack, looking to a removal of the committee member and to a recommendation that the Governor discharge the appointee.

Although no names were mentioned in the committee meeting, persons who witnessed the attack reported that Neale was first struck by Edward J. Hogan, former member of the State Committee, and John Byrne, at present a State Beverage Inspector. They said that when Neale fought back and succeeded in getting on top of the man described as Hogan, John Byrne, member of the State Committee, from the Eleventh District, and a constable in Justice Miles' court, struck him, and that Hogan and Byrne continued beating him until they were frightened away by a number of committeemen and others, who rushed to Neale's assistance.

Political Row Preceding Fight.
Neale, when chairman of the State Committee, issued a call for mass meetings or primaries in all counties and all St. Louis wards to elect members of the women's county committees and of the women's city committee. Meetings were held in many of the St. Louis wards.

The City Committee, fearing the right of the State Committee to provide for the election of committewomen, insisting that the city committeemen had the sole right to select members of the women's committee. As a result, two sets of com-mitteewomen were chosen, the set choosing the City Committee's choice being affiliated with the Democratic League of St. Louis, of which Mrs. Fred A. Reid, an active Democratic worker, is president.

Contesting members of the Women's State Committee were chosen.
Yesterday the State Committee attempted to iron out the difficulty, and had a tumultuous session, the St. Louis committeemen, with the exception of Senator Michael Kinney and Joseph J. Moster, chairman of the City Committee, threatening to bolt the meeting and the party if their demands were not met.

The settlement finally worked out was that all selections for State com-mitteewomen in the Tenth, Eleventh and Twelfth districts and city com-mitteewomen in St. Louis should be elected and a committee of the State Committee be appointed to fix a time for holding meetings at which new committeewomen would be chosen.

Mrs. W. W. Martin tried ineffec-tively to get a resolution containing this plan before the committee, but was refused recognition. It was finally before the committee by a speech of Mrs. H. J. Holden, to whom Mrs. Reid yielded the floor, after she had delivered a vigorous speech debating the City Committee and claiming.

CHANCEY I. FILLEY, 91, WALKS
TO POLLING PLACE TO REGISTER

Former Mayor and Postmaster Predicts Success for Republican Ticket in November.
Chancey I. Filley, who will be 91 years old next month, and who was Mayor of St. Louis in the Civil War period, later Postmaster, and was a city and State Republican boss in the '80s and '90s, registered this morning at the Twenty-third Ward,
Tenth Precinct, polling place, 4043
Olive street. He walked there from his home, 4109 Westminster place.

Filley said he intended to vote
the Republican ticket in November, and he predicted a Republican victory in the State and nation. "We've got 'em, and they know it," he said.
Repeating the phrase which he used to utter in referring to the opposition.

He said that early Sunday evening someone called him on the telephone and said: "This is Groves, the name of a friend of Mr. Filley's in Dorchester, and invited him to come over and spend the evening. He repeated Groves told him that he had not telephoned.

McCurdy said he stayed awhile and was walking home about 9 o'clock when an automobile with four men in it came up behind him.
The lights were dimmed as it approached and a man standing on the running board called "Oh, Bob."
He turned around and the man leaped over toward him and fired, and the automobile sped away. The boy was shot through the abdomen.
A passing automobile took him to his home from where he was taken to the hospital in Litchfield.

Accused High School Student.
In his statement Monday he said that he recognized the person who shot him as "Jack Williams," the Cleveland High School, St. Louis.
He and Williams, he said, had started on a bicycle trip, to be financed by the money which Williams had won at Brighton, Ill. McCurdy said he left Williams, telling him he was going to visit a rich aunt at Bunker Hill.

The authorities of Macoupin County are willing to find Williams and McCurdy. McCurdy is not known at the Cleveland High School, although McCurdy had been a student there.
McCurdy's aunt, following a loss of some money in a bank failure, had kept considerable amounts of money at her home. Friday McCurdy told the authorities of two counties of her robbery, and he was arrested. He said they were frightened away. They returned Thursday night, he said, and he fired at them with a shotgun.

Says Robbers Fired at Him.
Friday, he said, he saw two men at a strawstack on the farm, and discovered them, discovered that they were watching over the body of a third. They told him, he said, that he had shot their "pal," and one of them fired at him, the bullet piercing his shirt, and he was stopped by his pocketbook. The men then carried the body to an automobile and drove away.

Robert McCurdy, 18 years old, of 3445 Virginia avenue, St. Louis, died at 2:30 o'clock this morning at St.
Francis Hospital, Litchfield, Ill., from a bullet wound in the abdomen. He was found wounded late Sunday night by the roadside near the home of his aunt, Miss Melissa McCurdy, north of Bunker Hill, Ill., where he had been visiting. The bullet wound was in the lower part of the abdomen, and the statement he made Monday of the circumstances of the shooting. He said that early Sunday evening

MARSHAL PETAIN
WEDS WOMAN HE KNEW WHEN CHILD

French War Hero Said to Have Realized Life Dream in Marriage to Madam Hardon.

PARIS, Sept. 15.—Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, Commander in Chief of French armies in France during the latter years of the great war, and the French General whose work at Verdun made him a national figure, was married to Mme. Hardon at the city hall of the Seventh Ward of Paris on Tuesday morning, says the Petit Parisien. The ceremony was witnessed by Gen. Fayolle, another noted French commander during the war, and Mme. Gabriel Ferrier, widow of the celebrated painter who was stepfather of the bride.
Marshal Petain and his bride departed last evening for the Riviera, where the former owns a small estate.

The marriage is a realization of a life-long dream of the Marshal, who knew the bride when she was a young woman, long before her first marriage. He always cherished a tender memory of her, and he hoped that some day circumstances would enable him to marry her. The bride, according to the Excelsior, is very wealthy.

PRESIDENT, IN WHEEL CHAIR, REVIEWS PARADE OF VETERANS

Event Is First of Kind He Has Taken Part in Since He Became Ill Year Ago.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—President Wilson last yesterday for the first time since he was taken ill nearly a year ago reviewed a parade. Seated in a wheel chair on the east portico of the White House, the President saw members of the veterans' parade passing his home.
The President reached the position offering the best view of the line of march early and, while waiting for the parade, he reviewed the line of march. The Executive responded to the salutes of the passing veterans and to the playing of the national colors by raising his hand.
The parade continued down Pennsylvania avenue to the east steps of the Capitol, where it was reviewed by the President. The parade was commanded by Major-General Lejeune, commandant of the Marine Corps, and the latter addressed the veterans at the conclusion of the parade.

LONDON LABOR ORGAN WILL NOT ACCEPT $375,000 SOVIET GOLD

Paper Recently Asked Readers
Whether It Should Accept Money or Double Price.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The board of directors of the Daily Herald will not accept the Russian Soviet Government's offer of $375,000. The resolution adopted yesterday declares that the directors had no knowledge that the money had been offered.

Maxwell, through whom the offer of the money came, resigned from the board.

The Daily Herald, radical laborite paper, has asked its readers
whether it should accept $375,000 from Russian sympathizers. Without the support of this money, it added, it would be compelled to close its doors.

While denying that the offer was a Bolshevik subsidy, the Daily Herald characterized it as "a magnificent demonstration of real working class solidarity" and "noticeable episode in international socialism."

DIFFERENCE OF 5 CENTS IN NEGOTIATIONS ON MILK PRICE

Producers Threatened to Stop Shipments Unless They Got $5.00—
Distributors Offer $3.55.

Because of a difference of 5 cents a hundred pounds (11.63 gallons) in the wholesale price of milk, between the local distributing firms and the Southern Illinois Milk Producers' Association, the producers have threatened to stop shipments to St.
Louis after tomorrow.

The distributors have offered a price of $3.55 a hundred pounds, and the producers are holding out for $4.00. These figures represented a lowering of the producers' original demand, and an increase on the distributors' original offer, and neither side would come nearer to an agreement. There is still possibility that an adjustment will be reached today.

Officials of the distributing firms say milk will be obtained from other sources, if the Southern Illinois supply is cut off, and that customers will be served so far as possible.

Salmon Drops 5 Cents a Pound.
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15.—The price of fresh salmon dropped five cents a pound, to 20 cents here yesterday. The State Fish Exchange said lack of a European market for canned salmon was the cause.

Registrations by women yesterday, the second day of the general registration in St. Louis for the November election, were 37 per cent of the total for the day, it is estimated by the Board of Election Commissioners—upon figures obtained from 100 precincts, in which all of the 24 wards of the city are represented. In those 100 precincts 7735 men and 4493 women, or a total of 12,228, registered during the day, which gives the 37 per cent for the women and 63 per cent for the men.
This would mean a registration for the entire city yesterday of 73,368, if registration in the other 900 precincts was at a corresponding rate.

Almost complete figures for Monday show a total of 64,961. The Election Commissioners, using the 100-precinct plan, had estimated Monday's total at about 60,000. Using the estimate for yesterday, the total for the two days would be 138,329, or at the rate of 276,6

ORGANIZATION MEN WIN IN NEW YORK STATE PRIMARY

Miller Named for Governor-ship by Republicans and Senator Wadsworth Is Renominated.

DEMOCRATS SELECT WOMAN FOR OFFICE

They Defeat Former Mayor
Lunn for Senatorship and
Gov. Smith Is Renamed
Without Opposition.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Republican and Democratic candidates, who received the endorsement of the official State conventions at Saratoga, won decisive victories in all State-wide contests in yesterday's New York State primary.

With 2549 districts missing out of a total of 7274 in the State, Nathan L. Miller of Syracuse, former judge of the State Court of Appeals, Republican organization candidate for Governor, led State Senator George F. Thompson of Niagara by 77,242 votes. The vote was Miller, 171,360; Thompson, 92,488. Senator Thompson's name, however, will appear on the ballot in November as the prohibition candidate for Governor. He was unopposed for the prohibition nomination.

Gov. Alfred E. Smith was renominated without opposition by the Democrats. United States Senator James W. Wadsworth Jr., backed by the Republican State organization, won an easy victory over Mrs. Ella Bogle, president of the State branch of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, and George H. Payne, New York City Tax Commissioner. The vote in 4814 out of 7274 districts was: Wadsworth, 170,745; Bogle, 48,462; Payne, 28,997.

Lieutenant-Governor Harry C. Walker, organization candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, defeated former Mayor George B. Lunn of Rochester by a vote of more than 7 to 1. With 3155 districts missing, the vote was: Walker, 76,534; Lunn, 28,423.

Organization candidates also passed victorious in virtually all the contests for nominations for representatives of Congress, Supreme Court Justices, State Senators and State Assemblies.

Harriet May Mills, unopposed Democratic candidate for Secretary of State, was the only woman nominated for State office by the two major parties. The prohibitionists nominated Irene B. Taylor for Secretary of State and the Socialists named Hattie F. Krueger for State Treasurer. Two Republican and two Socialist women were defeated for congressional nominations.

Neither side apparently polled the vote expected. There are approximately 1,200,000 enrolled Republicans and 900,000 enrolled Democrats in the State.

Hamilton Fish Jr., won the three-cornered Republican fight for Congress in the Twenty-sixth District over George F. Gregg and Alvin Stillman.

Nonpartisan and Labor Candidate Leads in Colorado.

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 15.—The night lead of James M. Collins, Nonpartisan and Labor candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, almost overshadowed interest in the other contests in yesterday's State-wide primary.

With most of the election vote heard from and a majority of the country precincts unreported, Collins was leading Robert M. Higgins, former State Treasurer, by a little more than 100,000 votes.

In the three-cornered Republican contests for nomination for United States Senator 408 of the 12,383 precincts gave Karl C. Schuyler of Denver a lead of 1488 over his nearest opponent, Samuel D. Nicholson of Leadville.

Smith Renominated in Runoff Primary in South Carolina.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 15.—United States Senator Ellison D. Smith was renominated by South Carolina Democrats in yesterday's primary.

Official returns to the Columbia State from 44 of the 46 counties indicated early today. The State's five-year primary, accounting for 90,000 of the estimated total vote of 100,000, gave Smith a majority of 17,000 over his opponent, George Warren of Hampton.

The primary was the second one held in South Carolina. None of the senatorial candidates in the first primary received a majority of the vote cast.

Senator Jones Leads Three Others in Washington State.

SEATTLE, Sept. 15.—United States Senator Wesley M. Jones early today continued to lead three other candidates in the Republican nomination for Senator in yesterday's primaries.

Of 64 precincts in the State, 204 had reported for Jones 10,624; Erickson, 431; Hudson, 2488; Ingalls, 5216.

CORRESPONDENT FINDS MEN IN ITALIAN PLANTS UNDER DISCIPLINE LIKE RUSSIA'S

He Visits Two Factories in Milan and Finds Employees Busy in Seized Property—Lenine's Name Gains Admittance.

By LINCOLN EYRE.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
(The New York World.)

MILAN, Sept. 15.—Cheerfully submitting to discipline reminiscent of Russia and far more severe than any imposed by their ex-bosses, the proletarian is not only keeping the factory wheels going but is taking over in operation, but in several instances, has increased the standard of productivity. That is the claim of the labor leaders here, and in the course of a visit to two Soviet-controlled establishments this afternoon I saw and heard much to substantiate it.

The plants I inspected were those of Pirelli & Co., one of the biggest manufacturers of rubber in the world, and the Isotta-Fraschini automobile concern. In both the employees were without any hostile feeling, but with a single exception, had remained on the job, tolling eight hours a day with no immediate prospect of getting paid for it.

The Pirelli plant, which had been seized by the Soviet Government, was being run by a group of technicians, some of whom were collaborating with the workers there. At the Isotta factory all the technicians were on hand, according to the assurance given me by their chief.

Both establishments appeared to be functioning normally and both boasted sufficient stores of fuel and raw materials to keep going for two months without outside aid. It was hard to realize that anything out of the ordinary had occurred in them, since save for a few red flags and Soviet coats of arms, the deserted aspect of the administrative offices and an occasional red guard posted at some vantage point, where he could keep the approach of any hostile force, there was nothing to denote the sensational change that had taken place.

Lenine's Name Passed.

Permission to enter the Soviet domain, hitherto rigorously forbidden to "bourgeois" observers, was extended me only after it became known that I had been in Russia. The Soviet official, "that's good enough introduction for us."

I was taken to the Pirelli plant in a big touring car, my guides being three Soviet Red Guards and a Milan Chamber of Labor, which fulfills the functions of Municipal Soviet just as the General Labor Council acts as sort of Soviet convention for the country at large. Its executive committee corresponding to the Russian Council of People's Commissaries.

Two of my companions were alert young men, clean shaven and well dressed. The third, a veteran agitator, was a middle-aged, dark-browed personage, attired in soiled overalls and baggy trousers, and strongly recalled Moscow—the moderation with which they talked would exasperate a Russian Bolshevik. For instance, they questioned the wisdom of plunging into a revolution at a time when the country's economic situation is so precarious, and voiced the willingness to restore the factories to their owners, just as soon as the latter agree to let the workers share in the management of them. Sentiments like these would disgust Lenine.

At the main entrance of the Pirelli works we were received with a low bow by the venerable guardian of the gate, still wearing the Pirelli livery of dark blue and silver. He ushered us into the administrative offices now tenanted by a handful of clerks and stenographers, and thence into the directors' room, in which was installed the executive committee of the Pirelli plant.

Its members, perhaps a dozen in all, are mostly keen-eyed youths of working class, differing from similar bodies in Russia only in that there were no Jews among them, and that they evidently considered themselves temporary and not permanent trustees of their employers' property. Some of them wore red bands and one or two had badges bearing the crossed hammer and sickle of Sovietdom in their button-holes. As far as I could see none was armed. After careful scrutiny of the credentials given me by the labor confederation, they provided us with a guide and sent us on our way through the plant.

It is a huge establishment, housing some 10,000 workers and covering several city blocks. The buildings are modern and were evidently planned with a view to the employment of a large number of workers. I saw a man in a red band, the head of the firm, a "good boss," he added, however, that since they were fighting for a principle, the employees' welfare was not of major importance. The plant's main purpose was the manufacture of automobile tires, which is why it was seized. The seizure took place only last Saturday, and the workers had been given all factories affiliated with the metallurgical industry, and notably the automobile industry.

The first of the famous Red Guards I saw was standing beside a window in one of the machine sheds peering intently down into the street. He wore civilian clothes and a red arm band and had a rifle slung over his shoulder. He was entirely unfortified, and the occupants of which had only about a score of rifles and perhaps 50 hand grenades among the whole lot. The commander of the Red Guards gleefully informed me another 20 rifles were expected. When I asked whether he would get machine guns, too, he shrugged his shoulders doubtfully. He observed, however, that preparations for defense with sealing water sprayed through hoses, and by means of chemicals as well, were under way.

We spent two hours in the Pirelli plant and walked what seemed many miles through an endless series of shops in each of which hundreds of men and women were working away full tilt. As far as I could see there was no idling anywhere, and the discipline was strict. The workers scarcely raised their eyes from their machines as we passed. I was told that any infraction of the rules brought the offender before an executive committee which had the power to inflict fines, suspension or worse of all, expulsion from the union—this last means permanent unemployment and possible starvation—as a penalty.

Sanction by 1500 votes, and that former Representative George K. Fayot had been nominated for Congress in the Sixth District.

It was during the adoption of this resolution that the St. Louis contingent, yelling derisively, started for the door, announcing that they would quit the party if it was to be turned over to Mrs. Kinney and Meares.

Neale had spoken in behalf of a resolution to give the women an equal voice with the men in the State Committee, and was largely through his influence that the resolution was adopted. It included all State committeemen except those from the Tenth, Eleventh and Twelfth Districts, who were members from those districts to be seated when elected.

The resolution did not provide for meetings to be held in St. Louis County, a part of the Tenth District, and its adoption meant the elimination from the committee of Mrs. W. H. Allen, wife of a Judge of the St. Louis Court of Appeals. Judge Allen, seeking to save his wife's seat, the committee, objected to the adoption of the resolution in the form presented.

The members of the subcommittee charged with the duty of straightening out the tangle, as announced by Chairman Yancey, were Neale, chairman, Kinney and B. J. Crech of Troy.

Attack Made on Neale.

The State Committee adjourned about 6:30, and Neale walked through the capitol and out an east doorway, from which two flights of steps lead to the street. A. T. Dumm of Jefferson City, a Committeeman, was a short distance ahead of him and Thomas J. Fish

BIG VOTE EXPECTED TODAY IN ILLINOIS PRIMARY ELECTION

Candidates for Senate, House, Governor and Nearly 90 Other State Offices Being Balloted Upon.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Voting in Illinois State primary today opened briskly in Chicago during the morning hours, with indications that the total vote cast here might reach $100,000, considerably more than half the number registered.

Up to 11 o'clock one precinct Captain had been reported kidnapped by the opposition: four arrests had been made, and one of the special Deputy Sheriffs given me by Sheriff Charles Peters to guard the ballot boxes had been ousted by a city policeman. The threatened trouble between the police and Deputy Sheriffs failed to materialize on any alarming scale.

As the day wore on, reports of conflict grew more frequent. Three automobile loads of armed men kidnaped an election worker at a polling place in the Fourth Ward, beat a precinct captain in another polling place, shot up a saloon. Both the man kidnaped and the one beaten are Anti-Thompson workers, according to Sheriff Peters.

Police and a special Deputy Sheriff chased the Second Ward and Lee Thornton, a negro Deputy Sheriff, was arrested charged with assault to commit murder after he is said to have drawn a pistol and threatened to kill Detective Sergeant Anthony Nagel.

Policeman Kills Man.

Michael Fennessey, 33 years old, a switchman, was shot and killed by a policeman in an argument said to have started over the election.

The campaign in Chicago has centered around charges of "Tammanyism" directed at the Thompson administration by the friends of Gov. Lowden. The Anti-Thompson forces charged the Mayor's administration with extravagance and asserted he was now seeking a hold on the State government through the nomination of Len Small for Governor.

The Mayor's friends have charged with charges that Gov. Lowden charged his personal hotel bills to the State, and that he had paid the salaries of his friends here to the State, and that his personal valet in the National Guard paid roll at the salary of $3600 yearly, $100 more than a Lieutenant Colonel receives. The treasurer was fair, and the day promised to be hot.

Republican and Democratic candidates for United States Senator, Representative, Governor and nearly 90 other State offices are being balloted upon by men and women. The bitter campaign which developed between two factions in the Republican party is expected to result in the largest vote in the State's history.

The Republican factional fight centered around the ticket headed by Len Small of Kankakee, and supported by Mayor William Hale Thompson of Chicago, to which was opposed that headed by John G. Oglesby, Lieutenant-Governor, supported by Gov. Lowden.

In a free-for-all fight in a Second Ward polling place a policeman was beaten into unconsciousness and a Deputy Sheriff kidnaped by a band of armed men who attempted to vote twice. The kidnapers fled in an automobile on which they displayed a "Len Small for Governor" sign, according to election officials. Sgt. John Coyne, the patrolman who was beaten, may die.

Lewis After Nomination.

The principal senatorial fight on the Republican ticket also is being waged between two candidates. The man favored by Gov. Lowden is Representative W. B. McKinley of Champaign, while the candidate supported by Mayor Thompson is Frank L. Smith of Dwight, a Congressman. A third candidate is Burnett M. Chipperfield of Canton, a former Representative.

Seeking the Democratic nomination for Governor is James H. Hays, former Senator, opposed by Barratt O'Hara, former Lieutenant-Governor. Both are from Chicago. The Democratic senatorial race lies between Robert Emmet Burke of Chicago and Peter A. Waller of Keokuk.

Secretary of the State Committee, Adolph Musser of Holden and Meares were a block ahead of him. Neale had reached a landing on the walkway when he heard some one behind him.

"Thinking somebody wanted to pass me," Neale said, "I stepped slightly to one side and had started to turn to see who it was, when I was struck by a man who came from the side of the face. The man who hit me said something which I understood to be: 'You will interfere with us, will you?'"

"I was knocked several feet to the floor of the landing and against the stone balustrade. The thug followed me up. I recovered myself as I could and began fighting back. I succeeded in getting the first man down and was on top of him when a second man joined in and attacked me. I was beaten after I was down, and I was kicked in the face. They must have 'worked' on me a minute or two."

Neale called for help. Fisher and Musser, who went to his assistance, are authority for the statement that at least two other men were on guard to prevent any interference with the attack on Neale. Fisher said one struck at him and Musser

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Sept. 15.—A bulletin issued late this afternoon by the Irish Self-Determination League says:

"Mrs. MacSwiney, who has just visited Brixton prison, says that she finds the condition of Lord Mayor MacSwiney decidedly worse this afternoon. For the first time she noticed his eyes were very dull and he was suffering much pain in both the head and the body."

By the Associated Press.
LITTLE change in the condition of Lord Mayor Terence MacSwiney of Cork was reported this morning by the physician of Brixton prison, where MacSwiney is incarcerated in his report to the Home Office, however, the physician declared "increased weakness" was noticeable.

WITHERS ASKS FOR PERMISSION TO HIRE UNION TEACHERS

Dr. John W. Withers, Superintendent of Instruction, has written the members of the Board of Education recommending that the board amend its rules, adopted last spring, which makes members of labor unions ineligible for appointment to the teaching staff of the public schools. He wishes to have an exception made in the case of instructors in certain vocational courses, including printing, telegraphy and machine work.

The board took no action on Dr. Withers' proposal at its regular meeting last night. The question has been placed before the school authorities in concrete form by the superintendent's inability, under the rule, to reappoint A. N. Beaman, a member of the Typographical Union, as instructor in printing in Central High School. Beaman was not reappointed, it was announced last week that 80 students of the school had quit their studies. These students were apprentices in printing shops, who, by special arrangement, attended school one day and two nights each week.

NEWBERRY EXCEPTIONS FINISHED

By the Associated Press.
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 15.—Printers today informed the Associated Press that there were no grave collapses among the hunger-striking prisoners in Cork Jail during the night, but that the condition of Sean Hennessy and Kenny was extremely critical in the morning.

Kenny, unlike the others, who are young, is a man of 42. He has seven children and his wife is ill, which is causing Kenny much anxiety and lowering his morale.

Hennessy is still in the half-conscious condition he has been in for several days.

After the adoption of the resolution, Yancey said he would name the committee before departing from Jefferson City.

Neale asked to be relieved as a member of the special committee to arrange for the settlement of the controversy between the committee women and City Committee, saying that some might believe he would be influenced by the assault. Meares insisted that he remain on the committee, assuring him that none doubted that he would act fairly.

At the meeting the assault was denounced and Neale commended by Breckinridge Long, Democratic nominee for United States Senator; Kinney, Charles M. Hay, Musser, Dumm and F. T. Crowley of Lawrence. Several of the speakers called particular attention to efforts Kinney and Meares had made during the day to calm the obstreperous St. Louisans.

The St. Louisians in the committee were Kinney, Meares, with the proxy of John E. Clooney, E. B. Alexander with the proxy of Sam Lutz, W. H. Hughes with proxy of A. C. Steuver, Byrne and Frank O'Neill. Several other St. Louis Democratic politicians were in the room, although the meeting was behind closed doors and only members or those holding proxies being supposed to attend. Efforts to see Hogan and Byrne last night after the assault were fruitless.

The adoption of a platform, perfecting the committee organization and arrangement of details for the fall campaign, the Missouri Democratic platform convention adjourned early this morning.

The State Committee had perfected a committee organization by affirming the choice several days ago of C. E. Yancey of Liberty as chairman, Thomas H. Fisher of Marshall, secretary, and Judge Dan G. Taylor, St. Louis, treasurer. A committee to handle the campaign was named.

Neale as chairman. The speakers at the night sessions included: Champ Clark, former Speaker of the House of Representatives; Breckinridge Long, candidate for United States Senator; John D. Atkinson, candidate for Governor, and Miss Margaret Schaeffer of Chicago, who addressed her remarks to the women voters.

"Didn't Know About It," Says Byrne: "Won't Say Anything," Says Hogan.

Constable Byrne and Hogan were seen at Union Station this morning by a Post-Dispatch reporter, on their return from Jefferson City, and were questioned about the attack on Neale.

"I didn't know about it until after it was all over," Byrne declared. "I don't know anything, and I won't say anything," said Hogan, when he was asked about the same matter a moment later.

"Don't tell anything," said one of Hogan's companions who came up at that moment. "I won't say anything," Hogan repeated.

WIVES OF MAN SEEK HIS ARREST ON BIGAMY CHARGE

Four wives of a man who married in 1919 and second time in 1920, under different name, Mrs. Flora Belle Williams, 44, 16 years old; her mother, Mrs. M. Williams, 1307 South Vandeventer avenue, and Mrs. Mildred Ford Hogan, 21 years old, of the Hotel, Fourteenth and Walnut streets, applied today at Circuit Attorney's office for a warrant for George Hogan, 22 years old, to whom the three young women say they are married.

Mrs. Hogan said that they were married Sept. 27, 1919, by Justice of Peace McChesney, and lived until May at 3874 Washington avenue. She said a friend several days ago learned that her husband had married, whereupon she communicated with his second wife. She said she had been a chauffeur employed by an express company.

Mrs. Williams said that Hogan had married her last Wednesday, under name of Higgins, at St. Charles, that they afterward lived at the Hotel, Vandeventer and Washington avenues. Assistant Circuit Attorney Connor told the women that because the last marriage was in St. Charles, jurisdiction is in St. Charles County. Mrs. Williams said she would at once seek a warrant at St. Charles.

FORMER ST. LOUIS OFFICIAL DIES

Albert B. Metcalfe, once was Secretary of City Council, died last Sunday at Evanston, Ill. He was 65 years old. He was a former secretary of the St. Louis City Council and of the Board of Public Improvements.

He was son of the late Col. Lyne Metcalfe, who served three terms as Congressman from St. Louis and was a former appraiser of the St. Louis. Metcalfe is survived by two sons, Lyne S. and Edward Leigh Metcalfe, and two daughters, Mrs. Carl A. Frick of Evanston and Mrs. George W. Blake of Nutley.

COUNTY FAIR OPENS TOMORROW

Exhibition Will Be at Upper Creve Coeur Lake for Five Days.

The twenty-first annual St. Louis County Fair will open tomorrow at Upper Creve Coeur Lake for five days, ending next Monday.

There will be the usual exhibits of farm products, livestock, needlework and other objects of similar interest, as well as horse racing. A new feature to the fair will be the plan, which will carry visitors from the end of the Creve Coeur causeway to the fairgrounds, a trip which also is made by motorboat. The grounds are also near the Olive street road.

BABLER, REFUSING TO RESIGN, SHORN OF ALL BUT TITLE

Agreement of Hays, Babler and His Opponents, at Chicago, to Ignore Him, Made Openly Effective.

ABSOLUTE OUSTING STOPPED BY HAYS

Campaign Business Will Be Conducted Through State Chairman; "Liv" Morse Says He Will Scratch Ticket.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 15.—After Jacob L. Babler, Republican National Committeeman for Missouri, had been called before the Resolutions Committee of the Republican State Committee yesterday, and had rejected a point-blank demand that he resign, the Resolutions Committee adopted and the State Committee unanimously approved, a resolution calling upon Will Hays, national chairman, and the National Committee to ignore Babler in all business or communications with Missouri Republicans, and to deal directly with the State Committee.

The resolution bars an agreement made between Hays, Babler and the anti-Babler forces at Chicago, under which Hays agreed to ignore Babler and deal with the State Committee, but refused to remove Babler from the National Committee.

Hyde-Spencer Attitude.

The original plan to have the State Committee demand that Babler's resignation was carried out only verbally, when he was called before the Resolutions Committee.

The committee was under the absolute control of the Hyde-Spencer candidate for Governor, and Senator Selden P. Spencer and would have demanded Babler's resignation by resolution if either Hyde or Spencer had given the word.

The move to demand the absolute ousting of Babler was stopped by National Committeeman Joseph B. Keating of Indiana, who came here as the personal representative of Will Hays and served notice on the State candidates that Hays would ignore such a demand, and that such action would make unnecessary trouble.

Resolution as Adopted.

The resolution as adopted reads: "Whereas, the Republican party of Missouri recognizes that in order that it may hopelessly present its policies and its candidates to the people and that as a pre-requisite to efficient service to its constituency the personnel of its organization must be above suspicion either as to personal probity or political alignment; and whereas, as a result of activities of the Republicans of Missouri in seeking to rid the party of those of their organization who were found to have been guilty of gross improprieties, the Hon. Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican National Committee, secured from Jacob L. Babler, Missouri member of the National Committee, an agreement by which the said Babler consented to an arrangement providing that all communication between the National Committee and the Republicans of Missouri shall be through the chairman of the State Committee and that in all matters having to do with party organization and management the chairman of the State Committee shall be supreme. Therefore be it

"Resolved, that the members of the Missouri Republican State Committee in this, their first meeting, officially recognize the agreement made through the chairman of the National Committee with Jacob L. Babler, Missouri National Committeeman, as being in the nature of an approach to his retirement, for the reason that there appears to be no precedent to warrant the National Committee in removing one of its members. Be it further

"Resolved, that it is the sense of this committee that while Jacob L. Babler retains the empty title of National Committeeman, all communications from the National Committee having to do in any manner whatsoever with the Republican party in Missouri and the management of political campaigns, shall be by and through the chairman of the State Committee in accordance with said agreement."

Morse to "Scratch" Ticket.

E. L. ("Liv") Morse, Republican, "war horse" from the Third Congressional District, paymaster for the $32,000 pre-convention Lowden fund in Missouri, announced publicly last night that he would scratch the Republican ticket in November.

Morse's ire toward his party leaders was roused by the resolution which the State Committee adopted, in which Babler, Morse's close friend and associate in handling the Lowden money, virtually was read out of office.

The anti-Babler resolution, toned down from an outright demand for Babler's removal, was introduced by friends of Hyde. Friends of Senator Spencer also voted for the resolution, and Spencer announced that the adoption of the resolution was the only way to clear the party of the slush fund charge.

Morse denounced Hyde and Spencer, terming them "hypocrites and scoundrels," and declaring he would

SIX-YEAR-OLD GIRL IS KILLED BY TRUCK

East St. Louis Child Struck When on Way Home From School for Lunch.

Julia Chedinsky, 6 years old, of 226 Bowman avenue, East St. Louis, was killed today at 12:15 p. m. on Collinsville avenue, near Pennsylvania avenue, in East St. Louis, by a truck of Armour & Co. Her father, Frank, is an Armour employee.

The child and two others were on their way to their homes for lunch from St. Adolph's School, Seventh street and Summit avenue. Joseph Niederberger, 36, of 1472 Cleveland avenue, East St. Louis, driver of the truck, said that he observed the little girl running across the street, hand in hand. Julia was a little in advance of the other two. He shouted a warning, he said, two of the girls heading it and dropping Julia's hand. Julia continued to run, he said, and ran into the truck at a point between the front and rear wheels. She fell under the truck and the rear wheel struck her abdomen, but did not pass over it.

Julia was dead when an ambulance reached the hospital.

ALBANIANS APPEAL TO WILSON, LLOYD GEORGE AND MILLERAND

Want Steps Taken to Compel Serbia to Withdraw Troops From Albanian Territory.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—President Wilson and Premier Lloyd George and Millerand have been asked by the Albanian Government to take steps to compel Serbia to withdraw its troops from Albanian territory. C. A. Chetkedi, Albanian Commissioner to the United States, announced today.

Communications to this effect had been sent, he said, by M. Konitz, Albanian Foreign Minister, now in Paris.

TWO NEGRESSES HELD AFTER SHOOTING IN EAST ST. LOUIS

Charged With Using Firearms in Row Starting When They Are Being Taken to Poles.

Mrs. Mattie Wilson, 31 years old, of 2229 Missouri avenue, East St. Louis, and Lela Simpson, 29, of 2424 Missouri avenue, negroes, were arrested by East St. Louis policemen today, after each had fired two shots from a revolver at the other, none of the shots taking effect. They were charged with discharging firearms.

The affair, which occurred at the Wilson home, followed an altercation in an automobile in which both were being taken to the polls to vote. The Rev. John McBride, negro, who is pastor of the New Hope Baptist Church, where Mattie and Lela sing in the choir, was gathered up members of his flock to vote. Mattie and Lela had not been speaking for some time, due to a disagreement over choir matters. Lela was in the car when it stopped for Mattie, who is said to have brushed against Lela as she got in. Both then got out and went to their respective homes. Soon Lela appeared at Mattie's home and falling to heed the latter's warning to stay out of the yard, was shot at, returning the fire.

Bartholomew, has not been out of her home for nine weeks, due to an injury, but by the use of crutches she got to the automobile of a friend who had come at her request to take her to the registration place. Miss Honey has lived in St. Louis more than 50 years.

MAN RESEMBLING TRUNK MURDER SUSPECT DETAINED IN URUGUAY

He Is Taken From British Ship on Her Arrival From Brazil.

By the Associated Press.

MONTEVIDEO, Sept. 15.—Morris Fox, who was recently arrested aboard the British freighter Dryden because of his resemblance to Eugene Leroy, alleged to be the perpetrator of the Detroit "trunk murder," was detained for identification today by the Uruguayan police when the Dryden arrived from Rio de Janeiro. The action was at the request of the United States authorities. Fox was arrested Aug. 26 when the Dryden arrived at Rio de Janeiro.

The police here, who possess only an inadequate description of Leroy, furnished by the American Legation, are said to be skeptical that Fox is a teacher in preliminary questioning, and an examination of documents produced by Fox to show that he is not Leroy. Some characteristics, however, are said to correspond with the furnished description.

CAFE OWNER'S WIFE SUES FOR DIVORCE AFTER 6 SEPARATIONS

Mrs. Rose Kratz today filed suit to divorce John Kratz, Republican ward politician and proprietor of the Falstaff cafe, 11 North Sixth street. They were married in 1909 and separated last Aug. 26, that separation being preceded by five others, the petition declares, which were terminated by Kratz's promises of better conduct.

Mrs. Kratz declares that her husband frequently remained away from home for days at a time, was not companionable and exhibited a violent temper.

CHAINED TO AUTO AND ROBBED

Bandits Take $936 From Iowa Man Belonging to Workers.

By the Associated Press.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Sept. 15.—Two masked bandits today waylaid Dick Deveney, Wabash employe, chained him to his automobile and robbed him of $936. The money belonged to fellow railroad employes whose checks Deveney had taken to the bank and cashed.

CORONER'S VERDICT OF HOMICIDE IN HOFFNER KILLING

Roy Mills and George Collins Are Named by Jury as Principal and Accessory in the Affair.

A coroner's verdict of homicide was returned today in the case of Stephen G. Hoffner, 21 years old, of 4530 Davidson avenue, who died in the City Hospital Monday evening from a bullet wound inflicted by Roy Mills, 19, 2628 Locust street, late Saturday night, at Union boulevard and Lillian avenue.

Mills and David George Collins, 18, of 2401 Cora avenue, who was with him at the time of the shooting, were named by the coroner as principal and accessory in the homicide. They are two of six now under arrest, who have admitted complicity in a group of associated crimes. Mills, as has been told, has admitted that he took part in the National Refrigerators Co. payroll robbery, in which $4056.10 was taken at a South St. Louis grade crossing, Aug. 21, after one of the robbers, by lowering the crossing gates, had stopped the automobile in which the company's manager was driving from a bank to the plant.

Mills also has admitted that he took part in the robbery of William G. Bowman, from whom $23 and an automobile were taken at King's highway and Northland avenue, a week ago yesterday. Collins has admitted taking part in the theft of another automobile.

Mills testified at the inquest, although he was informed that he was not required to do so. He said he and Collins had gone to a pool hall on Lillian avenue Saturday evening and later had walked with two girls in the neighborhood. He said they had left the girls and were walking on the sidewalk. Collins asked, when a collision, which Mills said he did not see, occurred between Collins and Mills, Hoffner was struck.

Mills said that when he came up to see what was the matter, Hoffner confronted him in a threatening attitude and said: "I'll show you." He said he thought, from a movement made by Hoffner, that Hoffner meant to draw a revolver. So, he said, he fired his revolver. Hoffner was wounded by the same bullet in the arm and the abdomen, the latter wound causing death.

Mills, in replying to questions, denied that he and Collins were in the neighborhood for the purpose of committing highway robbery.

Mrs. Hoffner, a bride of two months, said her husband had his coat on his left arm and a tamale in his right hand, and that he made no threatening move, but merely walked ahead in the direction of the youths, one of whom backed away and fired at him. Hoffner had no weapon.

MAN FINED $50 FOR DISTRIBUTING ADULTERATED MILK

Partner in Bankrupt Concern Pleads Guilty, Alleging He Was at Mercy of Illinois Producers.

John B. Rueschoff, one of the partners of the Ideal Dairy Co., which, until its bankruptcy, conducted a milk distributing business at 2828 Oregon avenue, pleaded guilty in Federal Court today to an indictment returned in October, 1919, charging receipt at Courtville, Ill., and distribution in St. Louis of 19 cans of milk which had been adulterated with water.

As has been done in behalf of other dairies, large and small, similarly indicted, Rueschoff's attorney pleaded that he was at the mercy of the producer and was forced to accept milk as the producer delivered it. He also declared that Rueschoff was unable to pay a fine, as he was bankrupt.

Judge Faris asked District Attorney Carroll for recommendation. Carroll suggested a fine of $50, collection on execution, which means collection at some future date, a procedure that usually results in no collection.

Judge Faris inquired if Rueschoff was in court and Rueschoff came forward. In reply to the judge's questions, he said that he now was employed by the City Dairies Co., at $110 a month, was married and had a wife and child.

"I am not disposed to let any of these milk cases go unwhipped of justice," Judge Faris said. "The matter of adulteration of milk is a serious proposition, serious particularly to children. It causes disease and frequently death, and it should be dealt with severely."

"I will not permit you to go unpunished. It may be hard on you, but I fine you $50 and costs and order you committed until the fine is paid. However, I am disposed to show leniency and will grant you a stay of execution for 90 days. If at the end of that time your fine is not paid, you will be committed to jail."

Costs amount to about $25, making the total payment demanded of Rueschoff about $75.

BEGRAD, Sept. 15.—The Jugoslav Parliament today ratified the treaty of peace with Bulgaria.

WOMAN WITH 3 CHILDREN RELEASED IN LIQUOR CASE

Arrested for Having Still, She Is Unable to Comprehend Getting Bondsman and Is Permitted to Go.

Mrs. Lucia Mikulak of 7411 South Grand avenue was arrested today on a warrant issued Monday, charging her with keeping a still on her premises. She was taken to the United States Marshal's office in the Federal Building, and being unable to understand English, she got no definite idea from the remarks that were made to her about giving bond. Her three children, the oldest of them 6 years old, went to the Federal Building with her, the neighbors refusing to care for them. Her husband, it appeared, was not at home. The children cried so loudly at the Marshal's office, and Mrs. Mikulak showed such indifference to the suggestions that she find a bondsman, that she was at length permitted to go on her own recognizance, after signing her name.

RIDERS OF UNLIGHTED BICYCLES AT NIGHT ORDERED ARRESTED

Enforcement of Law Directed Against Boys Following Complaints of Accidents.

Following numerous complaints of accidents in which bicycles have figured, Chief of Police O'Brien today issued a general order directing the arrest of boys riding unlighted bicycles at night. The order is aimed at messenger boys and postal carriers in particular.

One complaint was from a business man, whose name is withheld and whose letter to the police was in part as follows:

"In these days messenger boys are as well paid as other employes and if their duties compel them to ride a bicycle and they can afford this they should be able to afford a light. I just saw a messenger on a boy on a bicycle who rode immediately in front of me."

Traffic laws require bicycles to have lights in front and behind.

WALKER HILL'S RIGHT FOOT IS AMPUTATED

Operation Performed on Banker to Relieve Infection, Result of Auto Accident.

The condition of Walker Hill, 44 years old, of 3395 Lindell boulevard, one of the executive managers of the First National Bank, whose right foot was amputated just above the ankle Saturday in Barnes Hospital, is satisfactory, it was stated at his home today.

The operation was for the relief of an infection which developed a few days prior to the operation and which was traceable to an automobile accident of about a year ago in which Hill suffered bruises and cuts. A taxicab in which he was riding collided with an automobile truck.

Hill appeared at his bank after the accident with an arm in a sling. His arm and shoulder were severely strained. The arm injury has entirely disappeared, it was said at his home today, and the foot infection bore no relation to it.

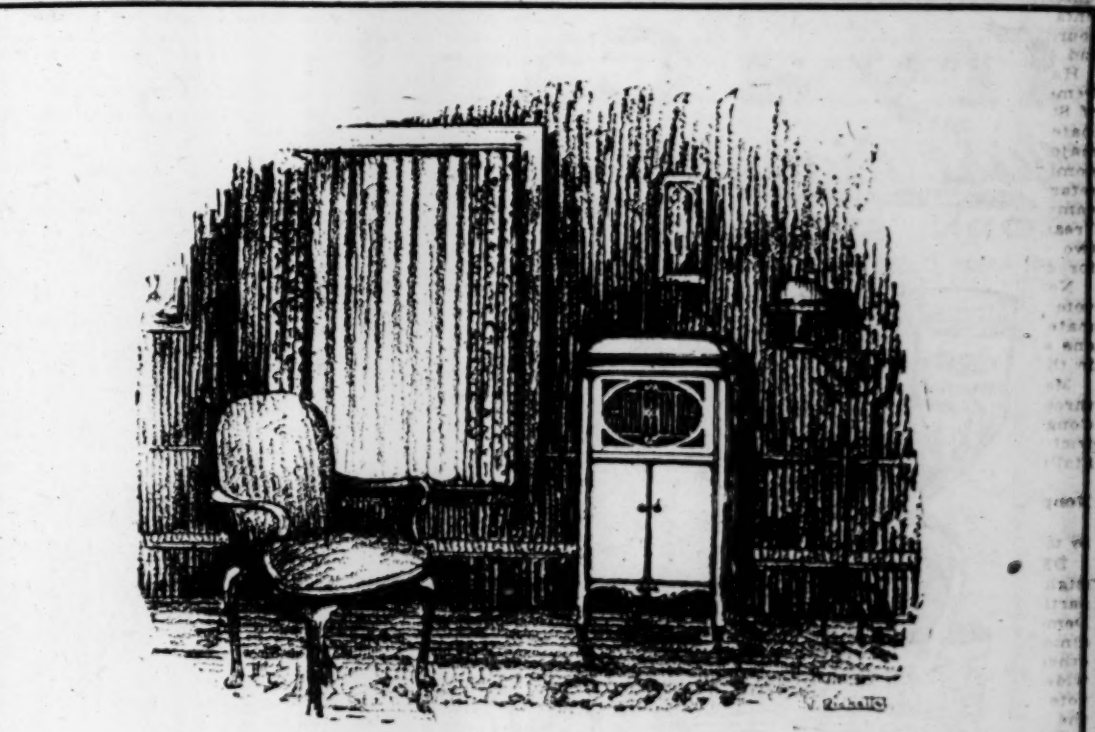

The operation was performed by Dr. Nathaniel Allison, dean of the medical school of Washington University.

CITY REFUSES TO PAY $6.50 A TON FOR COAL SCREENINGS

When 25 cars of screenings were sent to the waterworks today by the West Virginia Coal Co., Water Commissioner Wall refused to accept them because the price was $6.50 a ton, whereas he is able to get screenings for $4 and less. It became known that Supply Commissioner Thomas had contracted for 15,000 tons to be delivered in the next 60 days, at $6.50 a ton. Wall protested to Mayor Kiel and Comptroller Nolte. The law department advised that the contract was not legal, because Wall had not been authorized for the coal. It was decided after a conference, to pay for the 25 cars and call it off.

Thomas said that Assistant Water Commissioner Cutts, on Sept. 2, in the absence of Wall, told him the waterworks had to have more coal immediately. The best price he could get was $6.50. He obtained Comptroller Nolte's approval and made the contract. He wanted the city to live up to it.

Nolte said he advised Thomas to use his best judgment in getting the opinion of Assistant City Counselor Hamilton that the contract was not binding, there was a conference in the Mayor's office. The Mayor upheld Thomas and the contract will be canceled.

The Brunswick Phonograph

—maintains every standard of quality we have established in the fifty-eight years of our existence, and we know of no other we feel we could offer our patrons that would so entirely come up to their expectations of excellence from this house.

This is no idle statement calculated to advance the sale of an article we have to sell—it is fact, based on untiring investigation.

We decided to sell the Brunswick Phonograph only after we proved it better than any other—better both in physical construction, in peculiar reproducing excellence (due to a device exclusive with the Brunswick) and the progressive methods and financial strength of the organization back of every Brunswick machine.

If you have some particular favorite, bring in the individual record and let us show you how much better the Brunswick plays it.

Our terms of sale on Brunswicks are quite favorable, too.

RESTORING PLACES

The first restaurant is said to have been established in Paris about 1765.

A cook named Boulanger was the proprietor; and he used this device to herald his purpose:

"Come all ye that labor with the stomach, and I will restore you."

The one word, CHILDS, conveys the same meaning today, for the CHILDS restaurants are literally restoring places.

Nothing like a cup of CHILDS restoring and invigorating coffee to restore the weary brain or body.

The Easiest Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This dissolves it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

GARDENERS WOULD BAN ROADSIDE BILLBOARDS

National Association Speaker Predicts Disappearance of Orchids From Markets.

A movement to create public sentiment which will abolish billboards from country highways will be started today in the National Association of Gardeners, which yesterday began a three-day convention in the Marquette Hotel.

"Motorists look forward for beauties to be revealed at every turn in a road, yet scarcely a turn on a frequented road in the United States today but reveals a flock of billboards, ranging in size from small sign posts to large boards which shut off all else from view," M. C. Ebel of New York, secretary of the association, said. "We do not expect to work through legislation. Most states and cities now have legislation regulating billboards, yet we see on every hand the ingenious devices of the billboard owners to circumvent the law. The gardeners will appoint a committee to appear before other organizations until, perhaps, there will be a moral force brought to bear that will modify at least, the acts of billboard vandals on highways."

Another concern of the meeting will be an effort to obtain modification of the Department of Agriculture quarantine on the importation of all plants to which earth is adhering.

"Orchids will disappear from commercial markets very quickly unless the quarantine is modified," G. H. Pring, floriculturist of the Missouri Botanical Gardens, said. "It requires 10 years to bring an orchid plant from seed to flower. Obviously, as orchid plants bear a single flower, that tedious procedure would put the price of blossoms beyond the reach of but the rich. Orchids, from which American women now obtain their gorgeous bouquets, have, until the quarantine, been brought from the Andes Mountains in South America, where they grow wild. It will not take orchids long to disappear from the market under the quarantine."

"Rubbish plants also, formerly obtained from Belgium and Holland, now are prohibited of importation. The theory of the quarantine is that imported plants bring in insects injurious to American plant life. We have demonstrated at our gardens that such insects, if they chance to exist, can be exterminated very simply and rapidly."

Delegates to the convention will be guests tonight at the annual dinner of the Missouri Botanical Gardens. Formerly this banquet was held at some downtown hotel. Tonight's banquet will be in the floral house at the garden.

Why "Tip" Any of Them?

Nobody's more welcome than a cheerful porter when you NEED one—

But suppose four strapping fellows all tried to bone you for a $3 to $5 tip without doing anything to earn it?

Nonsensical—of course!

But that's exactly what occurs when you buy a suit in the ordinary way. You pay out four handsome tips that cost you $10 to $20.

Know what they are? High Rent, Middleman's Profits, Costly Store Frills, Credit Losses!

They don't mean anything to you—why hand them out your dollars? By cutting out these four useless extras we have built the largest retail clothing business in America!

Trade Upstairs and Save $10

—that's our Slogan, but $15 or $20 is usually your saving

Every man who wants an eyeful of style and a pocketful of savings will find 'em both here.

If we put $10 to $20 into the pockets of the middlemen, the ground-floor rent collector, and the traveling salesman, that $10 to $20 wouldn't do us any good.

But when we put it back into YOUR pocket, it does us a pile of good.

That's how we figure it. And that's why we stick to our five commonsense business principles as tight as Woodrow sticks to his League (or what's left of it).

Every day we're proving to several hundred men that guaranteed quality, smart style, and all-wool fabric can be purchased here at commonsense prices. If this seems almost unbelievable, just read our five commonsense business methods listed below!

Hundreds of People Who Came to See, Remained to Buy—Our Largest and Most Successful Sale of

Oriental Rugs

Selection Is Still Exceptionally Favorable. At These Prices You Save From 20% to 25%

THE more closely one studies the subject of Oriental Rugs, and the art and history behind them, the deeper veneration is acquired for the ancient weavers' art, which has produced such masterpieces as still exist.

Mosses are featured in two groups—
$120.00 Rugs at $95.00
93.50 Rugs at 75.00

These Rugs are very unusual values with their unique Persian designs in beautifully blended blues, tans, rose, etc. The average size is 3 ft. x 6 ft., though some are slightly larger. Rug Shop—Fourth Floor.

The Continued Vogue of Short Sleeves Renders New Bracelets of Double Interest

YOU will like the new Horn Bracelets, brilliantly set with rhinestones and sapphires, sterling silver mounted—or a charming flexible Bracelet of sterling silver, set with large sapphires and amethysts. Prices range $17.50 to $35

Interesting as well as beautiful is a hand-carved rose of genuine ivory, which is worn on an ivory chain of unusual beauty. Each petal of this rose is exquisitely carved and is truly a work of art.

A chain of genuine ivory has a medallion with embossed hand-carved figure. This is distinctively pleasing, and is priced at $54. The Jewelry Shop—First Floor.

If You Would Be Smartly Groomed—Choose Your Veil With Special Care

DAME FASHION'S choice in Veilism is the cleverly embroidered Veil; mesh should be large, preferably square, with heavy scroll design in contrasting effects; as beige-brown with tan embroidery, blue with taupe and lighter blues. So clever are these effects that a small tailored tunic is made distinguished when draped round with a lovely Veil. They range in price, a yard

Very smart are Veils of blue, black or brown, with large or small colored dots of chenille; as beige, blue, green or taupe. This Veiling is moderately priced at, a yard

The Veil Shop—First Floor.

The Colors—

Browns, greens and grays in mixtures, Oxford and solid black kerseys.

The Linings—

Many have linings of satin, either full lined or skeleton lined, some are of double-faced materials, with plaid patterns as linings. Others have linings of very durable suiting materials.

The Models—

Double-breasted Ulsterettes with half belt. Double-breasted Ulsters with half belt. Chesterfield Coats with shaped backs; also box back walking Coats. Velvet collars, convertible and self collars.

Trimnings, Etc.—

There are regular pockets, slash pockets and patch pockets, some with flaps, others without, some of the skeleton lined models are piped along all inside seams with satin.

On the whole they are the most attractive lot of Overcoats we have ever offered.

Knowing the Overcoat situation as we do and knowing the wonderful values of these Coats we unhesitatingly recommend that any man needing an Overcoat for the coming Winter, will be sure of saving money by purchasing one.

This lot came to us, underprice, through the co-operation of three leading manufacturers, who were willing to help make this Annual Sale the greatest ever held in St. Louis, from the standpoint of values. We have shopped over the city and nowhere have we found Overcoats that can compare with this selection at a price lower than $45.00, and there are many Coats in this selection equal to $50.00, $55.00 and $60.00 Coats that will be offered all over the city in the near future.

Mens' Clothing Shop—Second Floor.

This sale is all the more important because it comes right at the beginning of the season, right when you should begin to make your plans for your Winter clothing. It is an ideal time to select your Winter Overcoat so that you will have it for the first chilly days or evenings that will soon come.

The sale will start tomorrow morning at 9:00, in the Men's Clothing Shop, Second Floor.

There will be plenty of extra salesmen on hand to give prompt service, but we expect a tremendous response to this unusual offer so that it is advisable that you come as early as possible; be on hand when the doors open and you will get full choice of the entire 400 Overcoats. All sizes for men and young men.

NEW BASEMENT SHOPS

A Purchase and Sale of 100 New Suits in the Season's Smartest Models

Of Silvertones, Tricotines and Duvet de Laines Fur-Trimmed and Embroidered, or Strictly Tailored

Very Special $47.50 at . . .

THIS sale should attract every St. Louis woman who needs a smart Suit for Autumn and Winter wear. The first 100 women will be the fortunate few—as each Suit is exceptional—and just one of a kind.

New shades of brown are featured and of course the staple navy. Some are smartly tailored, while others display heavy scroll embroidery in self shades of silk. Nutria, sealine and Australian opossum are the beautiful furs some choose for collars; and all are beautifully lined with attractive novelty silk.

We urge your prompt attendance at 9 o'clock Thursday morning, for here are values in Suits that discriminating women will quickly appreciate. Size range is very complete.

Items of Interest

For Milady's Boudoir—a New Desk Set

WHEN you have finished redecorating your boudoir you look about you with a satisfied smile. The soft satiny blue draperies at the windows emphasize the dainty charm of the billowy curtains beneath—all over spotless windows. The sky-blue walls form a lovely background for the new bird's-eye maple Suite you just bought. The woodwork is spotless. But you soon frown when your eye reaches the desk, for doesn't it look bare? We have just what you need to add the finishing touch—blue (or rose if you like) moire silk Sets, trimmed with gold lace, white lace and sometimes garlands of dainty rosebuds. All the necessary pieces are included.

11 PERSONS INJURED
IN 6 AUTO ACCIDENTS

Girl and Young Man Badly Hurt When Car Hits Machine on Olive Street.

Eleven persons were injured in six automobile accidents today and yesterday.

Louis Christ, 19, an oiler, 1807 South Third street, suffered a fractured skull at 8 o'clock this morning when a motor cycle he was riding skidded at Seventh street and Allen avenue on a wet pavement as he averted to avoid a passing automobile.

The automobile of Miss Pauline Huber, 21 years old, of 5901 Cote Brilliante avenue, and occupied by her and Richard Simpson, 29, of 3806 Hartford street; Miss Helen Bergmann, 23, 2306 La Salle street, and Edgar Schutz, 25, 1722 Corna avenue, was struck by a westbound Olive car at Channing avenue at 10:30 last night. The machine, which was going east on Olive street, was hurled to the northwest corner of the street intersection.

Schutz suffered concussion of the brain and several fractured ribs, and Miss Huber suffered cuts on the head and injuries to the back. Both were taken to the city hospital. Simpson, who was driving the machine, received cuts on the face and hands and Miss Bergmann was cut on the head and her back injured.

Car Crew Is Arrested.

William Cordes, 29, of 1627A North Eighteenth street, motorman of the street car, and Joseph White, 28, of 2427 Adams street, conductor, were arrested, charged by the police with felonious wounding and released on bond. The automobile was damaged $500.

Miss Frieda Carlson, 23, of 4249 Arlington avenue, was cut and bruised about the legs; Frank Boyce, 20, a chauffeur, was cut on the right leg and hand, and Leo Murphy, 32, a bartender, 5224 Easton avenue, suffered a sprained right wrist at 8:15 p. m., when a sedan driven by Boyce overturned as it was turning east from Minerva avenue to go north on Arlington avenue. The machine belonged to Mrs. Dorothy Woods of 6475 Plymouth avenue, employer of Boyce.

Hurt When Changing Tire.

August Tietjen, 29, a bookkeeper, 1024 Fairmount avenue, was injured at 8 p. m., when he was changing a tire on his automobile in front of 727 North King's highway, and the inner tube burst.

Oscar Hinton, 28, a chauffeur of 2002 Withnell street, was seriously injured shortly after noon, at Fourth and Walnut streets, when his automobile truck started moving as he was cranking it, forcing him against another truck. He was taken to the city hospital and found to have suffered cuts and bruises. He had been delivering building materials at the new building of the International Fur Exchange.

Leo Tompalsky, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Tompalsky of 2316 Franklin avenue, was seriously injured at 11 a. m. yesterday when his bicycle was struck at Twenty-third and O'Fallon streets by an automobile driven by Henry Libboach of 1322A Shawmut place. The boy was cut on the left hip.

Girl Hurt When Auto Is Driven Into Telephone Pole.

Miss Dorothy Oldham, daughter of C. D. Oldham, 1224A Shawmut place, suffered cuts and bruises last night when an automobile in which she was riding with C. A. Palmer of Eldorado, Kan., who is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Palmer, 6012 McPherson avenue, struck a telephone pole on the Clayton road near the Hanley road, St. Louis County. Palmer said he lost control of the machine when it struck a telephone wire lying across the road.

LEAGUE COUNCIL OUTLINES PROJECT OF WORLD COURT

Draft of Terms Consists of 62 Articles Dealing With Organization, Competence and Procedure.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—Headquarters of the League of Nations yesterday made public the text of the project for a permanent court of international justice, as adopted by The Hague committee of jurists, of which Elihu Root was a member, together with a letter from the Council of the league to all member governments.

The Council of the league in its letter says:

"The Council does not propose to express any opinion on the merits of the scheme until they have had full opportunity of considering it."

It states that the project was prepared by a most competent tribunal representing widely different national points of view. It adds:

"The Council would regard irreconcilable differences of opinion on merits of the scheme as the most important of the tasks which it was invited to perform. If agreement proves impossible under circumstances apparently so favorable, it is hard to see how and when the task of securing it will be successfully resumed."

The Council states it will later submit recommendations to the assembly of the League.

Draft of Terms of Project.

Some features of the proposed world court have been summarized from The Hague, but the draft given out yesterday gives terms of the entire project, consisting of 62 articles divided into three chapters on organization, competence of court and procedure. A preamble states the general purposes as follows:

"A permanent court of international justice, to which parties shall have direct access, is hereby established, in accordance with Article 14 of the covenant of the League of Nations. This court shall be in addition to the Court of Arbitration organized by The Hague convention of 1899 and 1907, and to the special tribunals of arbitration to which states are always at liberty to submit their disputes for settlement."

Articles 2 and 3 give the membership of the court as follows:

"The court shall be composed of independent judges, elected regardless of nationality, from among persons who possess the qualifications required, in their respective countries, for appointment to the highest judicial offices, or are jurisconsults of recognized competence in international law."

"The court shall consist of 15 members, 11 judges and four deputy judges. The number of judges and deputy judges may be hereafter increased by the Assembly, upon the proposal of the Council of the League of Nations to total of 15 judges and six deputy judges."

Members to Serve Nine Years.

The manner of choosing judges by different national groups is provided. Members of the court are elected for nine years. The president and the vice president serve for three years. The seat of the court is established at The Hague, a session shall be held each year beginning June 15, and an extraordinary session may be called whenever necessary by the president of the court, who must reside at The Hague. If 11 judges are not available, nine judges shall constitute the court. Three judges sit annually to hear and determine summary procedure. Salaries of the court are fixed and expenses borne by the League of Nations.

Suits Between States.

Article 31 gives the court jurisdiction over suits between states. Article 33 provides: "When a dispute has been found impossible of settlement by diplomatic means, and no agreement has been made to choose another jurisdiction, the parties complaining may bring the case before the court. The court shall hear and determine the dispute according to the terms and within the limits of the next article."

The questions which the court is competent to determine are given as follows:

"The interpretation of a treaty."

"Any question of international law."

"The existence of any fact which, if established, would constitute a breach of an international obligation."

"The nature or extent of reparation to be made for the breach of an international obligation."

"The interpretation of a sentence passed by the court."

The court also shall take cognizance of disputes of any kind which may be submitted by a general or particular convention between the parties.

The court in considering questions applies international conventions, international customs, general principles of law recognized by civilized nations, and decisions and teachings of the most highly qualified publicists of various nations.

French Official Language.

A state desiring to have recourse to the court makes application to the Registrar, who notifies the court and the members of the league. If the dispute concerns an act which is imminent the court has power to prescribe provisional measures to preserve the rights of the parties. The hearings in court shall be public, and the decisions of the court shall be by majority of the Judges present at the hearing. In case of a tie the president casts the deciding vote. The official language of the court is French, but another language may be authorized at the request of parties to a case.

The draft also provides extended provisions for the recording, revision of judgments, etc.

A printer's recommendation that produced a 60% increase in "returns"

RECENTLY a firm with very little money but a good proposition decided to purchase 25,000 mailing pieces.

They had already selected a certain quality of paper for the job. It was not a good quality, but the firm felt it could not afford to spend more.

The Printer, however, was dissatisfied, and he said so.

"Pick 2,000 names from your list," he proposed. "Send your circular to 1,000 on the paper you have selected. Then send the identical folder to the other 1,000 on a better quality of paper."

The proposal seemed fair and the trial was made.

Three weeks later, when the results were tabulated, it was found that the better paper had brought 60% more inquiries than the cheap.

An instance where the right paper was also the cheapest

Although buyers of printing usually err on the side of cheapness rather than on the side of quality, it not infrequently happens that the Printer's experience suggests a paper of lower cost.

A wholesale florist had an over-supply of bulbs which he wished to dispose of. He had an elaborate and expensive catalog prepared and sent to his best prospects.

The results were disappointing. At the end of the season he found nearly the entire supply still on hand.

The following season the Printer suggested that the beautifully illustrated booklet had failed because it had spelled high cost, without good value, to conservative prospective customers.

He suggested sending that year merely a simple folder in black and white.

In almost no time this inexpensive folder sold the entire stock!

Why it pays to have the Printer specify the paper

It is the little elements of appearance and "feel" and ink combination that frequently make all the difference in a letter or booklet between partial failure and real success.

In his selection of the right paper for the job, the Printer to-day is rendering service that means not only better results but in some cases means important savings.

(1) Economy of cutting. A Printer recently secured an order for 18,500 pamphlets, amounting to $855. The customer expressed a desire to furnish the stock and was about to order 60 reams of a certain size when the Printer called his attention to the use of another size which would allow for wasteless trimming. The order was immediately changed, at a saving of $270.

(2) Economy of systematizing stationery, letterheads and forms. The head of a large business concern in New York was told a few weeks ago that in his office a 50c rag-content bond was being used for memorandum forms and a "cheap" 16c sulphite or wood-pulp bond for letterheads sent to clients. In probably nine out of ten business houses there is a waste of this sort.

(3) Purchasing paper in large quantities for a series of jobs. Buying of this sort, with a proper anticipation of needs for a period of six months or a year, saved the Red Cross thousands of dollars a year during the war, on the cost of paper alone.

The new era in the Printing Industry

The services modern Printers are rendering to business are not merely the mechanical ones of typesetting, proofreading, and press work.

Under the progressive leadership of the United Typothetae of America and the National Lithographers' Association, Printers and Lithographers are to-day taking a real part in the planning of printed matter—drawing up their own specifications, taking the initiative in every phase of the work.

To all buyers of printing the American Writing Paper Company makes these recommendations:

Do not get four or five competitive bids from as many Printers and give the work to the man with the lowest estimate.

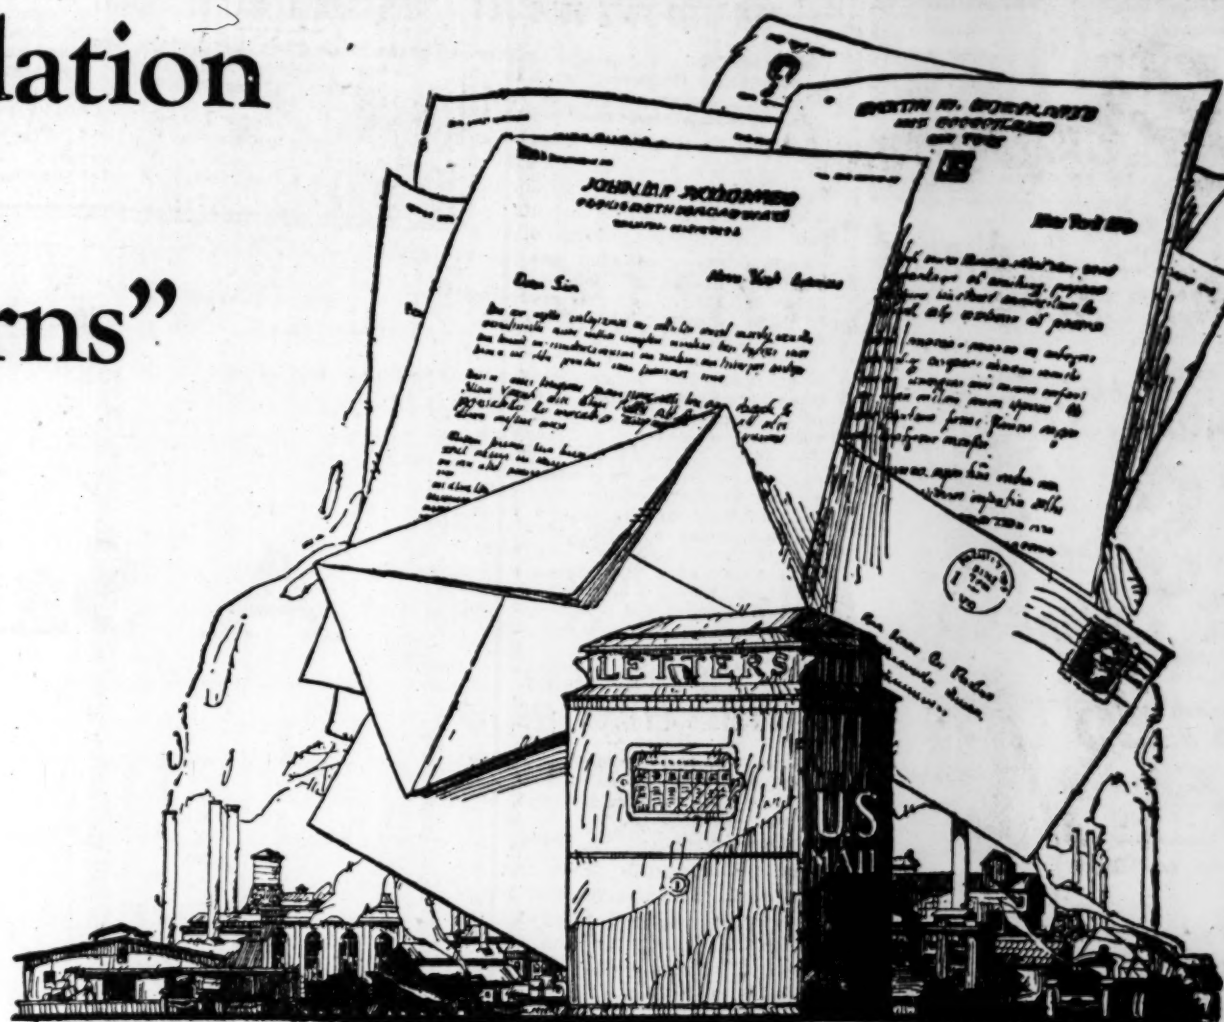

Select your Printer on the basis of service rather than price.

Employ him on the same basis as you would a doctor or a lawyer. Give him the facts about your business policies and methods. Furnish him with a basis for constructive criticisms and suggestions, and then maintain a permanent business relationship with him.

Let your Printer co-operate and work with you rather than merely work for you.

Be open-minded to your Printer's advice.

Your Printer is the one best qualified to select the right paper for the particular job. He is in a position to help you effect real economies—improve quality—bring RESULTS.

Ten years ago the Printer was an order-chaser—today he has a service organization and is contributing constructive ideas to business.

The trade mark of the association of employing printers, one of the greatest organizations of its kind in the world.

Scientific research and standardization in the paper industry certain either of its value or that he has the right paper for the job.

$225,000 for the facts about paper

The American Writing Paper Company has taken the lead in furnishing Printers with these facts by expanding its Scientific Research Laboratory at a cost of $225,000.

The main purpose of this Laboratory is to set up standards that shall prevail in every process of manufacture, to inspect raw materials as well as finished product, and to give to the Paper Merchant and the Printer the facts about what they buy.

A second, though no less important purpose of the laboratory is to bring about economies and improve quality and value.

Take the case of dirty wood-pulp. Dirty paper means poor quality. By examining wood-pulp for dirt, the Laboratory has saved as much as $300 on a carload of this raw material.

Alum. The annual cost of this one item alone has been reduced about $100,000. And of course the less alum needed the better the paper.

The ideas of superintendents, foremen and mill men in the 26 mills give the scientists the starting points of many important discoveries. Then after these ideas have been perfected by the Research Laboratory, the mill men put them to practical test and bring them into successful operation.

One thousand of these mill men have been with the Company for more than 10 years; 500 for more than 20 years; many even longer. These men represent the craft skill in the making of paper that it has taken centuries to perfect.

Neither the scientific nor the practical men are alone sufficient. Their co-operation is ideal.

Through its Research Laboratory, the American Writing Paper Company is throwing light into dark corners—is tearing down the time-worn maxim—"the buyer beware"—by informing the buyers on paper quality and characteristics, and assuming full responsibility for its own product.

The Printer is the creative force in the Printing Industry and should be the one to consult in specifying the grade and finish of paper to be used in any particular work.

It is the policy of the American Writing Paper Company to send its samples to customers through the Printers and Paper Merchants.

"Discovering New Facts About Paper" Some of the remarkable accomplishments of the American Writing Paper Company's Research Laboratory are described in detail in a new book by one of the foremost practical scientists in the United States. This book, "Discovering New Facts About Paper," contains information of the greatest value to everyone who uses or deals in paper. A complimentary copy will be sent to any business man, Printer or Paper Merchant. Write to the American Writing Paper Company, Holyoke, Mass.

NOTE: In general where the term "Printer" is used in this announcement, it refers not only to the printer who does flat bed and rotary work, but also to the offset printer, the lithographer, the engraver, and the stationer.

Measuring opacity and color of paper

How can you tell if one sheet of paper is more or less transparent than another? The answer is supplied by this instrument, used in the Laboratory of the American Writing Paper Company, which measures accurately the amount of light that passes through a sample of the paper being tested. Scientific accuracy is the basis of fair dealing in the paper trade.

If he is the kind of man who turns up a box of strawberries in order to make sure that he has not been deceived by a seductively perfect top layer, he may crumple up a sheet of paper, or tear it. But in the end he must decide in accordance with his eye and his pocket-book.

Paper Standards! Unless the Printer can know in every case exactly the quality and properties of the paper he buys, he cannot be

Both Parties Fail to Declare for Enforcement of Assessment and Tax Laws in State Platforms

Republican Plank Meaningless on Issue—Democrats Defend Alleged Illegal Acts of State Board of Equalization.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 15.—Both the Democratic and Republican candidates' conventions, which adjourned late last night, refused to go on record in favor of enforcement of the taxation and assessment laws of the State to require the assessment of property at its actual value.

The Republican platform contained an entirely meaningless plank on taxation, merely declaring for "the fair adjustment of the burdens of taxation and its equal application to all classes of property."

The Democratic platform even defended the unlawful assessments which have been supported by the State Board of Equalization and endorsed unqualifiedly the Democratic officials, Attorney-General McAllister, Treasurer Middelkamp and Secretary of State Sullivan, who have refused to equalize assessments on the basis of actual value.

Last-Minute Changes. There were last-minute changes in both platforms. The Democrats swinging from their determination to refuse to endorse the $60,000,000 road bond issue and the plan of the New Constitution Association of Missouri for a revision of the State Constitution. Both were endorsed, although yesterday the conference of candidates decided by almost unanimous vote that they would not be approved.

The Republican platform contains no mention of national issues, merely endorsing the national platform. The Democratic platform contains a detailed statement on national affairs. Its declarations were:

Condemns "carping Republican criticism" of the war and praises the Democratic party for the "efficient handling" of all the great problems of the war.

Commits the party to immediate ratification of the peace treaty without reservations which would impair its integrity, but not opposing the acceptance of reservations making clearer or more specific the obligations of the United States.

Sympathy for Ireland. Calls attention to the refusal of the Republican national convention to even mention the cause of Ireland in its platform; recites the Irish plank in the Democratic national platform, expresses sympathy with the people of Ireland in their struggle for self-government, and pledges Democratic Congressmen from Missouri to vote for any proper expression of that sympathy. Calls attention to Senator Harding's votes in the Senate against a resolution expressing sympathy for Ireland.

Calls attention to the Federal reserve act and its value in financing the war.

Indorses Cox and Roosevelt. Holds up "to scorn the corrupt use the Republicans made of money in the pre-convention campaign," and condemns Missourians who participated in its use.

Indorses the national platform. Calls attention to the loss of population in rural counties, expresses sympathy with the farmers, who, it says, are hampered by legislative handicaps, due largely to advantages enjoyed by big interests. Calls attention to the Federal farm loan act and the Smith-Lever act, passed by Democratic Congresses for the benefit of farmers.

For Collective Bargaining. Indorses collective bargaining by labor through representatives of its own choosing, and expresses hope that some process will be found which will permit the peaceful, expeditious and just settlement of industrial disputes, and which will afford the worker equal representation with the employer in the settlement. Charges that Senator Harding's record is one of consistent antagonism of labor.

Opposes compulsory military training. Indorses waterways development, the plank on this subject reading: "Transportation is the chief problem of our State. We favor the development of our rivers and the protection of river bottom lands from devastating floods, and condemn the Republican National House and Senate in refusing to make adequate appropriations for this purpose. Inland water transportation, supplemented by a good road system, will relieve the railroads of an overburdened traffic, and decrease the cost of transportation. We pledge our representatives in Congress to use their best efforts for inland waterways and highways, and the development of a plan which will combine the two in a comprehensive system. The development of our rivers will put our State on a parity with those states which have progressed because of the advantage of lake and ocean transportation."

Denounces the Republican Congress for failure to enact legislation for the regulation of the packing industry.

Deplores the failure of the Republican Congress to enact into law and patriotic manner." Other Democratic State officials are also indignant as "pampering, faithful and successful" in the performance of their duties.

ENFORCEMENT OF TAX LAWS IGNORED BY BOTH PARTIES

No mention in Republican platform.

WOMEN, SUFFRAGE.
Democratic platform welcomes women in full political partnership and pledges the party to a revision of the election laws to permit the full participation of women in political activities, and favors their admission to all elective and appointive offices.

Republican platform welcomes women to an equal part in government, favors the admission of women to any elective or appointive office and pledges women full and just recognition.

TAXATION.
The Democratic platform reads: "One of the most important and difficult questions for solution before the people of this State is that of an equitable and fair system of taxation. It involves two things:

"First, that no more money shall be taken from the people by taxation than is needed for an economical administration; and second, that the burdens of taxation shall be fairly distributed.

"We, therefore, favor a complete revision of our laws on taxation to be proposed by a nonpartisan commission to be appointed by the Governor.

"In the meantime, believing that real estate as a class is paying its full share of taxes, we are opposed to any increase in taxes on that class of property for State purposes. We promise a fair equalization by the State Board of Equalization of all property to the end that the burdens of taxation will be justly and equitably distributed between the various sections of the State, according to their actual wealth.

"We further believe a complete solution of the problems of taxation in this State requires changes in our Constitution. In addition to such revision of the tax laws, we recommend that such nonpartisan commission be requested to collect facts and data upon the subject of taxation and present the same with their recommendations to the Legislature."

The Republican platform reads: "Reduction of the burden of taxation by economy of administration; the budget system and the elimination of useless offices. The fair adjustment of the burden of taxation and its equal application to all classes of property."

LAW ENFORCEMENT.
Democratic platform declares in favor of the enforcement of all laws. Republican plank virtually the same.

SOLDIERS' BONUS.
Democratic platform declares for the submission of a constitutional amendment providing for State compensation for former service men as recommended by the State convention of the American Legion.

Republican platform contains no mention of soldiers' bonus.

FINANCES AND REVENUE.
Democratic platform sets out that rigid economy has been practiced. All floating indebtedness of the State paid, $800,000 has been invested in farms, merchandise and machinery for the State Penitentiary, the general revenue fund of the State has a cash balance of nearly $3,000,000 and that the total expenditures from the general revenue fund of the State last year were only $9,133,000, or $2.65 per capita. Pledges a continuation of the low tax rate, approves the principle of the State income tax and corporation franchise tax.

No mention in the Republican platform.

LABOR.
Democratic platform urges the enforcement of existing laws for the protection of women in industry including the 8-hour day, looks to the early passage of a law providing for an 8-hour day and 44-hour week, the elimination of factory and unessential night work for women.

Favors a minimum wage for working women, and the appointment of a wage commission on which women shall have representation. Reorganization of the State industrial department on a salary instead of fee basis, increasing its power and for the appointment of women on the inspection force.

The Republican platform pledges laws giving women in industry ample protection, and for representation by women on labor and wage commissions and on labor inspection forces. Pledges recognition and protection of the rights of labor.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION.
Democratic platform favors ratification of the present workmen's compensation law in the referendum at the November election, pledges amendments to correct imperfections, and in the event it is not ratified to enact a fair and adequate compensation law in keeping with the present wage standard.

Republican platform urges ratification of the present workmen's compensation law and its perfection by legislation.

STATE BUDGET.
Democratic platform favors the adoption of a state executive budget for making all State appropriations. Republican platform indorses the budget system.

Good Roads.
Democratic platform indorses the $50,000,000 road bond issue to be paid out of the revenues from automobile licenses, and sets out that its passage will not increase State taxes. Explains that all road building was stopped for more than a year during the war, and that construction has been retarded during the past two years by a shortage of building material. Recommends the employment of able county highway engineers. Pledges the enactment of road laws in carrying out the bond issue plan, to secure to each county the benefits from the expenditure.

Republican platform indorses the

$50,000,000 bond issue, promises legislation to regulate and safeguard expenditures and to insure to each county its proportionate benefit and to maintain the roads when built.

Election Reform. Democratic platform advocates an immediate, intelligent and impartial revision of the election, registration and primary laws.

Republican platform pledges honest elections, primary and general; a fair redistricting of the State on a population and not on a partisan basis.

New Constitution. Both platforms endorse the fifteenth amendment, which provides for the carrying out of the nonpartisan plan of the New Constitution Association for a convention to revise the Constitution.

Court Reform. Democratic platform favors the enactment of a brief and simple civil practice act governing civil procedure in courts.

No mention in Republican platform.

Teachers' Salaries. Both platforms favor increased salaries for school teachers and pledge adequate—the Republican platform uses the word better—support for schools. The Republican platform mentions particularly better educational facilities in colored schools.

Board of Health. Both platforms pledge adequate financial support of the Board of Health. The Democratic platform mentioning particularly the organization of departments of child hygiene, tuberculosis and venereal diseases, and the Republican platform mentioning particularly ample provision for tubercular negro patients.

PENSION FOR THE BLIND. Adoption of the Constitutional amendment for pensions for the blind advocated in the Democratic platform. No mention in the Republican platform.

CHILDREN'S CODE. Indorsed in both platforms.

PENITENTIARY. Democratic platform states that the contract system has been abolished, the merit system established, prisoners receive a part of their earnings, new cell buildings have been erected, playgrounds arranged and schools established and other improvements carried out and pledges a complete development of plan for an enlightened, humane educational and religious policy toward the inmates.

Republican platform pledges scientific, humane and nonpolitical control of penal institutions.

PAROLES. Democratic platform states that the parole system in use is based on principles of humanity and reform, and gives hope to the first offender. Favors use of the parole in a careful and judicious way for the first offenders.

Republican platform declares in favor of "a parole system based upon law and not upon favor."

STATE INSTITUTIONS. Democratic platform contends that State institutions have never been developed to a higher plane of usefulness than at the present and promises their enlargement and a continuance of the present standard.

Republican platform pledges scientific, humane and nonpolitical control.

METROPOLITAN POLICE. Democratic platform favors changes in the law to permit the increase of salaries of Police Commissioners to an amount which will justify them in devoting their entire time to Police Department duties, and favors increasing salaries of policemen. Recommends that ex-servicemen be given the preference in appointments to the police force and the provision be made for retirement on pension for disabilities suffered in service. Declares against political influence in the conduct of police departments and in favor of merit and efficiency as the only basis for promotions.

No mention of police in the Republican platform.

NEGRO AID. Democratic platform declares in favor of establishing a separate home for deaf, dumb, blind, feeble-minded and tubercular negroes, in favor of converting Lincoln Institute, the present State school for negroes, into a State university for negroes, in favor of negro representation on all boards of negro institutions, in favor of the establishment of an industrial school for incorrigible negro boys, and in favor of the establishment of an agricultural experiment station for negroes.

The Republican platform declares in favor of ample provision for tubercular negro patients, and for increased educational facilities for colored schools, but mentions none of the other items in the Democratic platform.

ADMINISTRATIVE REORGANIZATION. The Democratic platform contains this plank: "We believe the entire business of the State should be put under a limited number of executive and administrative State departments and require the strictest business efficiency and economy in the management of each, and the abolishment of all useless offices, boards and commissions."

The Republican platform contains no similar plank, but in one place urges economy in government by the elimination of useless offices.

REPORTS TO STATE OFFICERS. The Democratic platform favors

REPUBLICAN OFFICIALS. Records of Senator Spencer, Auditor Hackmann and State Superintendent of Schools Baker indorsed in Republican platform. No mention in Democratic platform.

PRE-ELECTION BARGAINS. Republican platform declares in favor of a State administration free from pre-election bargains, unbosomed by clique or class.

No mention in Democratic platform.

DEVELOPMENT OF STATE RESOURCES. Republican platform promises geological surveys of the State, development of mineral resources, water power, natural waterways, enlarged railroad and terminal facilities and more adequate methods of transportation.

No mention in the Democratic platform.

IMMIGRATION. Republican platform offers en-

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream.

32,000 TAX PAYERS TO GET 40 PCT. REFUND

Those Who Paid Before June 10
Will Receive Checks in Next Few Weeks.

St. Louis taxpayers, about 32,000 in number, who paid their State income tax bills on or before June 10 last, will receive refund checks, within the next few weeks, for 40 per cent of the amount paid.

This was announced today by City Collector Koehn, who conferred yesterday at the Governor's office in Jefferson City, with Gov. Gardner, Attorney-General McAllister and State Auditor Hackmann, on the income tax question.

The Collector also announced that the persons, numbering about 8000, who have deferred payment of their income taxes, may pay 60 per cent of their original bills, at any time up to Oct. 15, without penalty for the delay.

Bills Computed on Wrong Basis.
The State Supreme Court decided, after the greater part of the income tax bills had been paid last June, that the bills had been computed on the wrong basis. The bills were for taxes on 1919 incomes, and the Court held that the new rate, 1 1/2 per cent, which was placed in effect by the 1919 Legislature, was not in effect until Aug. 7, 1919, and that for the first seven months of 1919 the tax should be computed on the basis of the old rate, which was 1/2 of 1 per cent.

The question whether the former exemptions, $3000 for single and $4000 for married men, were also in force for the first seven months of 1919, never was definitely passed upon. The exemptions under the new law are $3000 and $2000.

40 Per Cent Approximate Amount.
Forty per cent is considered an approximation of what the refund should be. Koehn said that if any taxpayer wishes to hold out for more, he can refuse to accept the 40 per cent refund, and await any possible future action of the courts in determining the exact amount due. Those who cash refund checks will, in signing them, sign also a receipt in full, releasing the Collector from further claims. Those who have not paid, and who do not pay on the 60 per cent basis by Oct. 15, will risk incurring penalties.

FARMERS' CO-OPERATIVE AGENCIES.

Republican platform pledges legislation for co-operative agencies in the interest of the farmer for greater financial assistance for improvement in farm conditions, for better marketing facilities and for larger representation of the farmer in the administration of government.

Democratic platform declarations on farmers is confined to approval of the work done by the College of Agriculture and the State Board of Agriculture, to pledges of liberal support for them, to a pledge that Congressmen will aid in a program to insure full justice to the farmers, and to a criticism of the Republican Congress for its failure to regulate the packers.

The Democratic platform is a document of 24 partly filled typewritten pages. The Republican platform is of only two full typewritten pages.

FATE OF WOMAN, SHOT ON BRIDGE, GOES TO TWO SONS

1 of Mrs. Julia Bergin reveals that she was deserted by her husband, 20 years ago. The will of Mrs. Julia Bergin, 49 years old, who a week ago was mysteriously shot and killed on the foot bridge on Park Lane, near Tracy d, in a long action of the extreme northern part of the city, was yesterday put upon the table of her estate. The will discloses that Mrs. Bergin 20 years ago was deserted by her husband, Michael J. Bergin, and that this reason, she said, she did not want him to have more of her property than the will provides. In the event he survived her, a widow has the same right of her estate goes to her two sons, William R. and Leo W. The will was made Feb. 1 last.

FLYNN TO DONATE SALARY FOR PAPER IN UNIVERSITY CITY

New Mayor, in Inaugural Speech, Says Publication Will Be Devoted to Town's News. In a speech at his inaugural as Mayor of University City last night, Warren C. Flynn said that he would contribute his salary as Mayor, which is $50 a month, for the establishment of a "little newspaper" to be devoted to informing citizens of their own affairs of government. Lack of information on public projects until after their consummation was one of the causes of dissatisfaction which led to the election of Flynn. The editors of the "little newspaper" will be a committee consisting of one citizen from each of the three wards. It will be mailed free monthly to all residents, and will be given exclusively to news concerning the city government, school board and other municipal agencies. The City Hall in University City was too small for the inaugural, so

CHAPLIN TIGHTER THAN DRUM, WIFE ASSERTS

Couldn't Get Anything Out of Him With Vacuum Cleaner, She Says; Asks for $500,000.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Part III of the Charlie Chaplin-Mildred Harris Chaplin comedy-drama or tragedy-farce, or whatever it is in which their hymenal and financial affairs are involved, was unveiled before the palpitating public yesterday.

It was Mildred's turn to monopolize the lens. She did, and registered scorn for Charlie, first of all, and then some real unexpected dramatic stuff of the sort the scenario-hounds call "the surprise element."

At this stage of the film it looks as though Charlie might be in quite bad, but you never can tell how these serials are going to turn out. "So Mr. Chaplin wants to know on what grounds I am demanding 50 per cent of his wealth," said the fair young bride (through her attorneys, Henry and Frederick Goldsmith.) "My grounds are based on that piece of California legislation known as the 'Community Property Law,' which deals with the earnings of husband and wife. I will explain that law in a moment, but first I want to tell why I am going to law with Mr. Chaplin."

"The reason is this: He is so tight that I can't get anything out of him with a vacuum cleaner. He is so tight that he makes a drum-head seem loose in comparison. Asks for $500,000."

"Now, as to that California law. It reads this way: 'All property acquired after marriage, including real property in the State and personal property wherever situated, is community property. The husband has management and control of community property but cannot make a gift of it or dispose of it without valuable consideration or without the wife's consent.'"

"Therefore, I contend, I have an interest in every bit of money or other property Mr. Chaplin has acquired since we were married. But I am not insisting upon half of everything. I will be satisfied with one-half of the proceeds of his forthcoming picture, which I am told is valued at between $500,000 and $1,000,000."

The Goldsmith brothers, attorneys, explained that Mrs. Chaplin herself will be represented in the case by her mother, Mrs. Genevieve Harris, because Mildred is only 19 years old, and is legally a minor.

Continuing her statement through the lawyers—Charlie's wife says:

"We have been separated since January, and since July my doctor in Los Angeles, forbade me to work any more. I have been broken down nervously ever since our baby died. Says Charlie Welched."

"In January Mr. Chaplin offered me $25,000 as a settlement of all claims against him. I refused this because I didn't want a separation or divorce. Then later he made me a proposition to take $45,000 and call everything off. At first I refused this, but afterwards told him I would accept it, because my physician said I ought to come East and consult specialists."

"But when I agreed to take the $45,000, Mr. Chaplin welched. He refused to keep his agreement. So I had to borrow $5000 from Louis B. Mayer of Boston, who produced my last picture. That's what I'm using now, and it is nearly all gone. I even offered Mr. Chaplin my motor car as security for a loan, but he turned me down. That's the kind of a man he is."

Mrs. Chaplin declared that if Charlie "wanted to work" he could earn $25,000 a week. Under one of his former contracts, she said, he was paid $13,500 a week. But he doesn't want to work.

The Attorneys Goldsmith declared they had served warning on the First National Exhibitors, and upon Marcus Loew that if the new Chaplin film is shown here the proceeds from it will be at once attached under

FAST—FADELESS

License Refused to Girl, 15.

Hazel M. Gruber, 15 years old, of 3125A South Broadway, and Joseph H. Mann, 21, of Jefferson Barracks, were refused a marriage license yesterday in East St. Louis because the Illinois law prohibits the marriage of girls under 16 years of age. They were accompanied by a woman who said she was Miss Gruber's mother, and who said she consented to the marriage.

What Will Become of Your Estate?

WHETHER it be large or small, that is a most important question because it affects vitally your family's future.

You, and you alone, can provide for the distribution of your property in accordance with your wishes, but in just one way—by making a will.

You can further safeguard the interests of your wife and children by entrusting the carrying out of the provisions of your will and the administering of your estate to this Company, with its financial responsibility, its years of experience, and its officers trained in the many complex matters involved in such administration.

Come in with your attorney, and discuss this matter with one of our trust officers.

HICKORY

WAIST AND GARTERS FOR GIRLS AND BOYS

"So much better in every way, than any other my children ever have worn"

Unsolicited endorsements like the above are a natural result of the painstaking effort and thoughtful care we have tailored into this superior garment. See this beautiful waist—body made of fine mercerized sateen—you can tell at a glance that it's a better article. Will give better service and comfort. Is most economical for you to buy. All sizes 2 to 14. And, it fits!

The body is made of fine mercerized sateen—wears well and washes wonderfully.

The sensible front breast strap holds the garment in position comfortably and securely; the buttons are genuine unbreakable bone. The patent pin tube attachment prevents the garter pin from breaking or bending.

The famous Hickory Garters for children are supplied with the Hickory Waist, if desired. Hickory Garters are so well known to mothers everywhere they need little comment, if any. They are guaranteed to stand the hardest strain.

You'll find them in the notions, boys' and infants' departments

Mazola fried 24½ pounds of potatoes—lard fried only 7 pounds 14 ounces!

THAT Mazola is a better and more economical frying fat than lard has again been demonstrated. This time by Mrs. A. Louise Andrea, admittedly one of the greatest experts in modern cookery.

Mrs. Andrea found that 4 lbs. of Mazola, cooked down to 2 lbs., fried 24½ lbs. of potatoes. While 4 lbs. of lard cooked down to 2 lbs. fried only 7 lbs. 14 oz. potatoes.

Tested on fish steaks, one inch in thickness, Mazola fried 25½ lbs., while lard fried only 16½ lbs. of fish.

Of doughnuts cut uniformly 2¼ inches in diameter, Mazola fried 208, while lard fried only 138.

This proves conclusively that Mazola goes more than three times as far as lard for frying potatoes; almost twice as far for fish; and two-thirds farther than lard in frying doughnuts.

No housewife who wants to use the most wholesome, as well as the most economical cooking and salad oil, should fail to order Mazola from her grocer today.

and $125

After all, it is the Street and Afternoon Frocks that are subjected to keenest scrutiny, for they must face it squarely in broad daylight. Then, too, it is the sort of Frock that is given hardest wear and therefore it should be selected with greatest care. Knowing this very well, we have been most discriminating in the selection of the Frocks that comprise the three groups featured tomorrow, and believe you will find in them the very Frocks that will serve your purpose best. Exclusive, too, there being only one or two of a kind.

Street Frocks

Tricotine and Poret will have been used to very good effect in the fashioning of these new models in peplum, tunic, coat and straightline effects. Beads and embroidery are extensively used, collars and vestees have a softening effect that is most becoming.

Afternoon Frocks

Variety in fabric is as noticeable as variety in style, with satin, meteor, Georgette, kitten's ear crepe and charmeuse to choose from. Embellishments of beads, embroideries, ribbons, laces and silk stitching applied in clever new ways enhance the beauty of the mode.

Other Frocks and Gowns for street, afternoon, dinner and evening wear, range in price from $22.75 to $350.00.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Folling the Footpad.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I have noted many letters in this column from persons seeking permits to carry firearms as a safeguard against highwaymen. That remedy won't work. I am not going to enumerate the fatalities that would probably result from mistaking some inoffensive citizen for a highwayman, but will merely dwell on the chances the armed citizen would have against the highwayman. The highwayman in a great many instances selects his victim several minutes before the actual robbery is started. If the highwayman is alone in his work, which is rare, he levels his weapon from the hip and stands far enough away from the victim to prevent any chance of his getting the highwayman's gun. The highwayman is cool and calm, because he knows just what he is going to do. The average citizen is anything but cool. He has little better chance armed than unarmed. I believe that one of the best ways to stop the highwaymen is to leave your valuables at home. It is not necessary to wear diamonds at night and if it is, persons who wear them ought to be able to afford a conveyance to take them to and from their destination. A dollar watch can be used as well as one that costs a hundred times that much. Why is a pocketful of money necessary? A few dollars to cover actual expense is all that is required for an evening. Leave your jewelry and money at home at night. If you must carry money put it somewhere where the highwayman cannot get it so readily. In brief, anticipate the robbery by leaving your valuables at home. Highwaymen don't like water hauls and they would soon let up on the pedestrians if they knew they would come out empty handed.

SAFETY.

Willing to Pay for Service.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Telephone subscribers have no objection to paying increased rates if the telephone company will refund 5 cents for every wrong number given by operators.

SERVICE.

Patriotism.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Above the maelstrom of greed, commercialism, personal ambition and hypocrisy into which the world has well-nigh sunk, the sublime sacrifice on the altar of his country's freedom, of Lord Mayor Francis M. Sweeney of Cork and his 11 humble compatriots shines like a star of hope to betrayed humanity. Self-sacrifice, faith and lofty patriotism are not dead. Self-abnegation for the ideals which have elevated the human race from brutish selfishness to Christian charity and brotherly love still exist. It demonstrates clearly that man does not live by bread alone but in the lofty aspirations of the soul; for what greater virtue can man than that he should willingly lay down his life in order that sacred and immortal right may triumph over brutal might?

Small men in their pigmy-mindedness may call this a sacrifice but the hearts of the oppressed all over the world are stirred with new-born hope; for such sacrifices like that of Calvary are an omen of unseen forces that cannot be stilled.

The supreme selfishness to be consumed, but the aspirations for which it is offered live on with renewed strength. If the blood of the martyrs has been the seed of the church, a like potent influence will be added to the cause of Irish freedom. Conceal it as they may, the crimson stain of Mayor Sweeney and his compatriots' blood shows red on the hands of their country's oppression.

THOMAS J. O'CONNELL.

War Profitteering.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

It appears that the men who are accused of having taken advantage of the necessities of our Government and of the allied Governments during the war, have one defense upon which they mainly rely. They claim that it was necessary for them to protect themselves against the uncertainties of war. To several who have presented this defense I have suggested that the men who fought our battles did not take any precaution against the personal dangers which they encountered. Their risks were very much greater and I have yet to hear of one case in which one of our soldiers became a millionaire.

FRANCIS E. NIPHER.

Motorists Need Warning.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The signs, now displayed on the streets of St. Louis, are an insult to intelligent people. In the first place, they do not convey a definite meaning, and in the second place they carry an inference that the accidents which occur on the streets of St. Louis are entirely caused by the carelessness of the pedestrians. Such is not the case.

Many accidents and near-accidents are caused by the cutting of corners and by the very rapid turning of corners in an endeavor to cut in ahead of the individual who is crossing the street and who in a great many cases started to cross the street when the auto was more than a block away.

If there is any Safety First propaganda needed, it is needed for the motor makers, and not for the pedestrians.

WILLIAM MAY.

DEMOCRATIC YAPPIISM.

"We promise," declare the Democrats in the State platform adopted at Jefferson City, "a fair equalization by the State Board of Equalization of all property, to the end that the burdens of taxation will be justly and equitably distributed between the various sections of the State, according to their actual wealth."

This is fine reading for the ignorant and unthinking. It means nothing, in view of the fact that State Treasurer Middelkamp is the Democratic candidate for State Auditor and John L. Sullivan is Democratic candidate for re-election as State Secretary and that their records as Treasurer and Secretary were endorsed by the Democratic convention.

These candidates, as members of the Board of Equalization, in their official capacities as Treasurer and State Secretary, voted with Attorney-General McAllister against Gov. Gardner and State Auditor Hackmann to prevent the equalization of assessments on real property in the State. They nullified the work of the State Tax Commission, in co-operation with the County Assessors, in equalizing the assessments on real property throughout the State. They have persistently violated the Constitution and the laws to favor the owners of realty in the rural districts against the owners of realty in the cities. Through their support of the vicious and illegal system of unequal and unjust assessments they have compelled the levying of burdensome new taxes on business and on individual citizens.

The unjust and illegal system of assessment perpetuated by these men depleted the State Treasury, robbed the schools of adequate funds, deprived the State institutions of necessary resources and brought the State Treasury to the verge of bankruptcy. Their vicious methods in violation of the laws are responsible for the beggarly condition of the State and all its institutions and for the inability of the schools to keep pace with the needs of the people. They are responsible for the horde of special taxes which burden the people of the State and hamper industrial and commercial growth.

The influence of these men, supported by Attorney-General McAllister, who co-operated with them in the State Board, and other demagogic adherents, defeated the effort of Mr. Atkinson, Democratic candidate for Governor, and Maj. Hawes, candidate for Congress in the Eleventh District, to insert a clear, definite plank for tax equalization in the State, in pursuance of Mr. Atkinson's personal pledge in the primary campaign.

These two Democratic nominees, Messrs. Middelkamp and Sullivan, standing for the peanut politics and yappism of past Democratic administrations, have forced their party to evade a clear duty, and to endorse and promise unjust taxation in violation of law, for sordid partisan purposes. They have handicapped their party, but shall they longer handicap the State administration and block Missouri progress?

The Republican platform on taxation is a rather feeble pledge of equal taxation, without specific mention of the unjust methods that have prevailed under Democratic administrations, but it is strengthened by the record of Attorney Hackmann, candidate for re-election as State Auditor and by endorsement of his record, which is sound on this point.

The Democratic platform adds insult to injury by proposing a tax commission, when the very officers they endorse nullified the good work of a tax commission and the Democratic Legislature emasculated the commission.

The action of the convention demonstrates that the Democratic State organization is still under the control of the yap and the peanut politician and is willing to sacrifice principle and public interest to sordid, demagogic, partisan ends.

The question of taxation is the most important in the State—all other questions hang more or less upon it—and fair-minded citizens of all parties who realize its importance and the necessity of equitable taxation should combine to defeat Sullivan for State Secretary and Middelkamp for Auditor.

As he was one of the spellbinders sent up there to beguile, entrance and captivate the insatiable Yankee in his rock-bound lair, Josephus ought to know. Whether he knows or not, the fact that he comes up smiling is a considerable achievement.

But the fortitude of Mr. Daniels in the face of barages that long since would have driven an ordinary Secretary of the Navy to the shelter of the nearest port is proverbial. It is of record, though, that his urbanity and aplomb have never evoked a grudging tribute from the "ranks of Tuscany." However, if the Republicans have a trace of sportsmanship in their composition they will join with the Democrats in applauding this latest exhibition of cheerfulness by the redoubtable head of our sea forces and join in a fitting testimonial.

Just what honor should be conferred may be a question, but will anyone dissent from the proposition that Josephus may henceforth sign himself Joysephus, with the accent on the Joy?

DEMAGOGUERY AT MARION.

Senator Harding could logically be found guilty of demagoguery on the strength of his speech to a delegation of railway workers. His statement that the Wilson administration favored retaining the railroads, in the hope of making Government control permanent, is contradicted by the facts.

The only incident in the record that could be stretched into a warrant for such assertion or inference was the opinion expressed by Director-General McAdoo that the period of Government control should be extended five years and the explanation that the President agreed with that view. But as experienced a railroad man as Mr. Hines, who succeeded McAdoo as Director-General, favored the proposed five-year extension and impatiently dismissed as groundless the fears that such extension would make Government control permanent.

Every other consequential event in the record, either of fact or proposal, shows the administration's desires and motives to be the opposite of the Harding charge. The President, in a message to Congress, following the armistice, declared that the roads must be returned to private operation as soon as possible, and fixed Jan. 1, 1920, as the date when Government operation should end. It was supposed that ample time had thus been given Congress to prepare and pass the railroad legislation which everybody recognized as necessary, but when that date arrived the Esch-Cummins bill was still unfinished. The President had no choice but to give Congress more time. Accordingly, the period of Government operation was extended to March 1, with the implied ultimatum, however, that on that date the properties would be returned, regardless of what Congress had done or failed to do. Even under that threat the Esch-Cummins bill was whipped into shape and passed only by whip and spur.

Charging the Wilson administration with radicalism has been a popular pastime with its critics, but Senator Harding is not doing it for diversion. He is bidding for votes. Demagoguery is a high price for a presidential candidate to pay for support.

THE WAGES OF OUTLAWRY.

Thomas Flowers was a member of the St. Louis Fire Department for 15 years. At a fire nine years ago he made two rescues and won deservedly a place in the list of departmental heroes.

He exchanged a useful, satisfying, honorable service for membership in an outlaw gang, where perhaps his former teamwork as one of a fire-fighting company made his co-operation the more valuable. The gang perpetrated robberies and are responsible for at least one murder.

Flowers' part in the ingenious theft of a $4200 payroll was to lower the railroad crossing gates that compelled the paymaster to stop his motor car. The ex-hero's share of the money in an equitable division would have been $1040. He actually got only enough to pay his board for 11 weeks and leave a balance of $10. Hardly more than $1200 out of the $4200 was divided among the four engaged in the theft. They made away with a payroll, but got little pay themselves. The rest went to some man higher up.

Depredations are now practiced on a scale so much larger than formerly that their rewards may be imagined to be dazzling. There are, however, offsets and counter charges. The wages of outlawry are poor enough when they run into imposing figures. They are meager indeed when the associate crook who makes the distribution is the profiteer.

CONNECTICUT JUMPS TO THE WINNING SIDE.

Gov. Holcomb of Connecticut was one of the "stubbhorn" Governors. Though the Legislature of that State was declared to be favorable to the nineteenth amendment, he resisted all effort to make Connecticut the thirty-sixth ratifying State, and even held out against a long state of siege proclaimed by the suffragists of the entire country. After Tennessee acted and the women already had the vote and were prepared to use their power, he capitulated. The special session he called to make changes in the State code facilitating the exercise of the new rights decided that it might as well ratify, though belatedly, and former predictions were verified when approval was given by the Senate without a dissenting vote and by the House in an overwhelming majority.

Because of its Governor's unpopularity to reason, Connecticut lost one of those chances that come to a state only at very long intervals. Nevertheless, the support of 37 states for the amendment will be reassuring to those who have feared some trick maneuver or court wile at the eleventh hour to exclude women from the polls in November on account of the Tennessee mixup. Sex qualification for voting is as dead as property qualification in most of the states.

The NEEDLE TOWER GHOST

by Robert Welles Ritchie

HE WAS called "Pee-wee" Olmstead by the men in the downtown real estate field, who occasionally came across the devil of a little individual with the trail of a complacent mouse. Olmstead was rich and eccentric; he had made his money through speculation in South street lots and others' boarding houses. In and out through crooked streets at the toe of Manhattan's tip, Olmstead had bitten his little mouse runs, ways with profit, until finally he aspired high and came to his great adventure.

The single day in the life of Pee-wee Olmstead was important for the uses of this narrative. It was the one when he attended a meeting of a board of directors. Darius C. Olmstead was that board—or thought he was, when, unobtrusively, he slid into a chair in a circle of financiers. Nearly all his money had gone to buy him the high honor of this chair at a director's table. Great pride was his; at last he was one with men whose names rang the bell-eyes in the city's real estate target.

But on this day of triumph the little South street broker had not smoked his cigar down to the first half of the ash when he got a shock—most nerve jangling shock. The secretary of the corporation read a report of the reorganization of the body through a holding corporation. All directors of the original company became directors of the holding corporation—save only Darius Olmstead. He simply wasn't mentioned. Adoption of the report went through with a bang, Olmstead was dimly aware of a sweetly purring voice in his ear which explained in stumpy phrases all the whys and wherefores of that missing name of Olmstead in the new directorate.

Pee-wee listened without comment, accepting the $10 bill due him for attendance upon the meeting, and went out into the whirl of the street. When he closed the door of the directors' room behind him Pee-wee's face still bore a quaint resemblance to a mouse—but a mouse backed into the corner and waiting with bared teeth to snap the smiting paw. The giants about the directors' table, having eliminated the upstart pygmy, straightway forgot his existence, and in the course of time 300 artisans began putting into terms of structural steel and hollow tile their bold dream. After three years the Needle Tower stood complete in all its 700 feet of majesty—the city's greatest skyscraper.

On a blustering winter night when the ghost fingers of the snow were painting the towers of Broad and Wall streets in a Dore phantasm of unworldly blacks and whites, Miss Dot Fontaine sat at the local desk and Miss Clarice Pixley on the adjoining stool before long-distance switchboard—two night patrols over the telephone company's Broad exchange. The silence of a cemetery was in the vast room where rank upon rank of switchboards brooded at rest from the day's uproar. The first bell of Trinity's midnight chime sounded muffled through the swirling snow. A little light gleamed over Miss Fontaine's desk and one of the close-set metal bits dropped noiselessly. Hardly lifting her eyes from the book the girl plugged in.

"Num-bah?" Then a clear, strong voice deliberately enunciating:

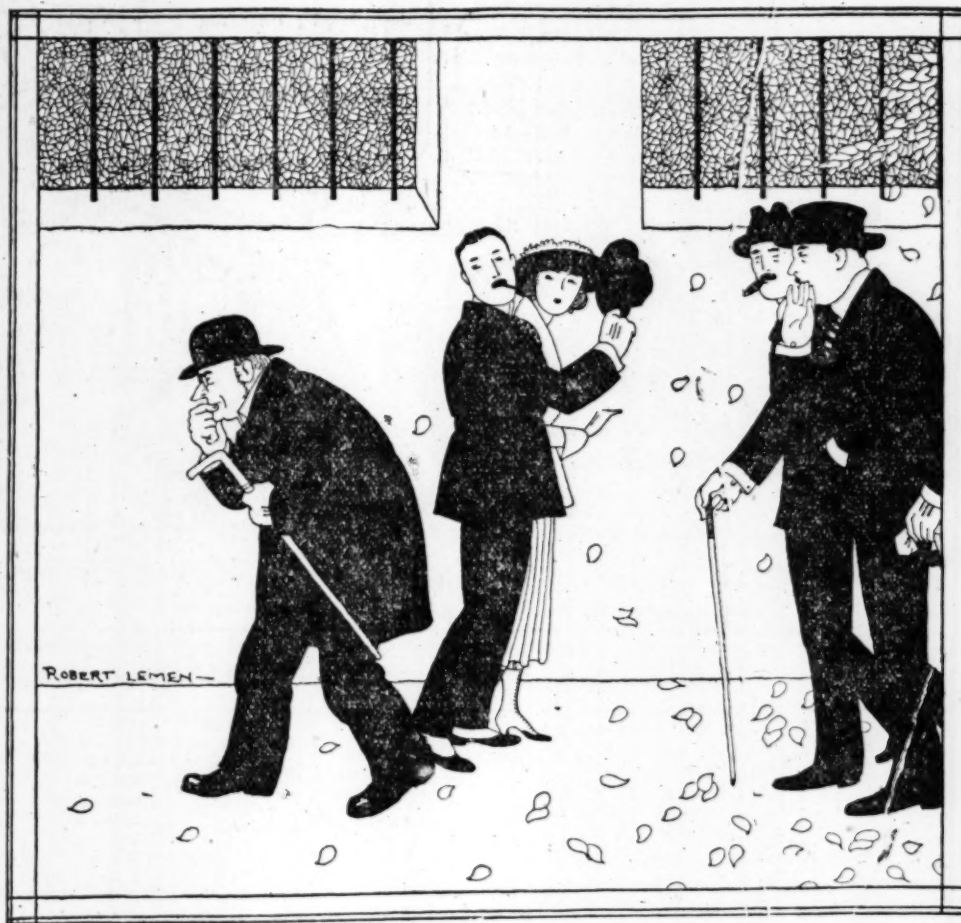

"This is the hour I died."

A click in Miss Fontaine's ear, denoting broken connection. Just these six words spoken with grave emphasis—then silence.

Miss Fontaine was a very self-possessed young person, else she would not have been a telephone girl. But at those words coming out of the snowy dark, with no prelude and no postscript of explanation, she looked up sharply at the rows of metal bits before her to find there and challenge the speaker. A little furrow bit into the smooth line between her eyebrows.

"Say—these kidders!" she complained aloud.

Within a stone's throw of the telephone exchange, but where no stone thrown could hit him, Michael Trist, night engineer of the Needle Tower, sat in a broken-backed swivel chair under a single strong electric bulb, and laboriously studied Karl Marx on the utility of law. Michael Trist was in his proper subterranean domain of engine and dynamo, 80 feet below the level of Broad street, and with nothing between him and the quicksands of a glacial yesterday but the four-foot cofferdam of reinforced concrete at his feet. Before him, on either side, the blue-gray monsters of steam and electricity purred their slave's song. Here the black face of the firebox, flame streaked; there the springing arch of a dynamo shield lit by the flickering blue flames of electricity in the storing. A gnome's cavern, this.

The hands of the brass inset clock perched among the gauges of the triple boilers joined at 12. A telephone bell—the "house bell"—clucked stridently. Trist nearly fell out of his chair; but habit spurred him even over the shock of surprise, and he hurried over and put the receiver to his ear.

"Yes, sir?" queried Michael Trist. Then a clear, strong voice deliberately enunciating:

"This is the hour I died."

A click. Silence.

"Name of Saint Savior!" whispered Trist. He stood with the receiver jammed to his ear, eyes staring, jaw dropped. Then in a fury he banged the receiver hook into staccata tattoo.

"Hullo-hullo!" (Bang—bang—bang.) "Hullo, I say. Who is it dead?" No answer. The disciple of Karl Marx shook. Sweat dropped from his eyebrows. A cold hand massaged his spine. He toppled back to his chair, and sat there glowering at the dull glint of nickel which marked the telephone. Then suddenly he bounded to the door which opened onto the circular staircase leading to higher level and threw a lock and bolt on it. When the day engineer came at 7 o'clock Trist babbled a ghostly tale.

Midnight again in the shadowed loft of the Broad telephone exchange. Promptly at the stroke of 12 Miss Fontaine plugged in for a call—

"This is the hour I died."

"Heavens!" The girl jumped as if a mouse had hurled her lap. Then with vicious stabs she pumped her connecting plug back and forth in the socket of the ghostly connection.

"Hullo—Hullo—Hullo-loah! You!"

"What's the matter, dearie?" Miss Pixley was sympathetic.

"This kidders' gone the limit!" A dangerous light lay in Miss Fontaine's eyes, and her mouth was drawn into a wicked little line as she revealed to her companion the prodigy of two succeeding nights. "But," she concluded, "this num-bah's Broad nine-nine-nine-nine. If he thinks he can pull this rough stuff without being reported. Les-see!" She thumbed a directory by her side. "Oh, here he is: Carhart, Lucky & Carhart; 16 Broad street. Why, say, that's the Needle Tower, right down the street a little way. What d'you know about that?"

"What would a kidders be doing in the Needle Tower at midnight, dearie?" Miss Pixley queried. Her companion shivered and turned two very round eyes upon her.

"Say, girlie, I don't like the sound of this business. It's spooky. Minds me of one of these cabinet spirits—Old Doc, Cushman and Phoebe and Alice Carey—you know, Little Bright Eyes the Indian maiden, leading Doc Cushman down to say to his granddaughter she'll find the family jewels hid under the woodpile. 'This is the hour I died'—gee! A report to the day manager before I go off tomorrow!"

It was two minutes after midnight when Patrolman Hannigan of the Old Slip Station turned the corner of Beaver into Broad street. He heard a grating and muffled metallic purring coming from below the sidewalk. Two iron traps swung suddenly upward and outward under the thrust of the curved strut of an ash hoist. Before ever the elevator reached sidewalk level a man leaped from it and went charging up the street. Patrolman Hannigan recovered himself, pursued and caught Michael Trist, night engineer of the Needle Tower in front of the subterranean. The man, in a folly of terror, pointed back to the dim plinth of the Needle Tower.

"This hour I die! This hour I die!" Hannigan's prisoner screamed as he stumbled in the patrolman's grip on the way to the station house. The bleak cliffs on either hand hurled back an answering moan, "Die—die!"

Mrs. Solomon Says--

(Being the Confessions of the Seven-Hundredth Wife)

By HELEN ROWLAND.

MY Daughter, there is a place where all the shores of the world are gathered together!

Lo, it is the Summer Resort, the Kingdom of ennui and bluff—the land of skimmed milk and artificial honey!

Behold, there wilt thou find the poets and the poseurs, alike. There wilt thou find the Professorial Optimist, in all his glory. He goeth about wearing a mad-making smile and a Pollyanna expression. He seeketh to scatter sweetness and light in dim romantic corners, where darkness and solitude are preferred. He interrupteth the piazza repartee with platitudes, and breaketh into the flirtation with sermons on "cheer."

He saith: "It's a beautiful world!" He is as welcome as a pet mosquito.

There wilt thou find the Amateur Tumorist. Lo, he "ducketh" the timid ladies in the water, and grabbeth the ankles of the fearful damsels beneath the waves. He putteth sand in the shoes of the unwary and splattereth the hand-made complexion of the Hotel Beauty.

Yes, he is SO funny.

There wilt thou meet the self-appointed Society Sponsor. He draggeth the seeker of solitude from his lair, and introduceth EVERYBODY unto everybody else. She preenteth the damsel to her last year's "diamond" and this divorce unto her ex-husband, without mercy.

She is exceeding KIND.

There wilt thou find the "Woman Answer"—even the heavier of hearts and drawer of glances, who poseth upon the piazza in stunning white channels and a bored expression. He hateth idly of his "yacht" and his "motor-car." He stutts afar, and stutts up the damsel, and periteth the prettiest of these to LOVE him.

He is SO treacherous.

There wilt thou encounter the Human Newspaper.

Lo, he "ducketh" the timid ladies in the water, and grabbeth the ankles of the fearful damsels beneath the waves. He putteth sand in the shoes of the unwary and splattereth the hand-made complexion of the Hotel Beauty.

He is SO treacherous.

There wilt thou encounter the Human Newspaper.

She ariseth at dawn, and peepeth over all the shores of the world. She spreadeth the scandal free of charge. She keepeth tabs upon the goings and comings and flirtations of the damsels, and appraiseth the matrimonial diamonds. The cooings of the newlyweds, and the quarrels of the long-married do not escape her.

She is SO efficient.

There wilt thou meet the Willy Summer Widow, who snatcheth the MOST attractive man, and bearing him off in triumph. And the dining-room pest, who monopolizeth all the waiters, and demaneth the best table, near the ocean window, and the best cut of the melon.

And the "Angel Child" who filleteth the air with howlings, and covereth the piazza chairs with stickiness; and the pet arm-hound, that barketh and yipeth throughout the night, and scratcheth under the feet by day; and the quartet of "Gay Bechelets" who torment the ears with motor-horns and the nostrils with gasoline, and fill the nights with laughter and song and poker-parties!

Verily, verily, the Summer resort is a place where a man will resort to anything for amusement, a damsel will resort to anything for attention, and a sane human being would cheerfully resort to murder!

Where a woman spendeth half her days making herself alluring—and the other half in searching for something to "use."

Where the moon shineth upon the beach, inviting lovers to bask in its radiance and there is no one to LOVE!

Where the ozone induceth sleep and the revellers drive it away!

Where there is no peace, no rest, and NO escape from BOREDOM!

Yet, each year, do we forget the torments and the horrors of the year before, and gird up our loins and our wardrobe trunks for another season of "recreation!"

Selah.

SAVE STEPS.

MAKE your head save your heels," should be the housewife's slogan. Every step that she can save in the house leaves her time and energy for the steps in the open air, which she needs to keep her strong and happy.

Think of the space in a ship or in a dining car in which the cooking is done for how many people in surprise style did have the wash cut in one with the blouse. The newest thing in this line is the blouse with the peplum. Then there are the numerous variations of the middy blouse.

Merchants are showing fall hosiery and it is evident that the woolen sport stockings that were so popular for general wear last year will again be in high favor this fall. The lighter weights seem to be preferred, and the plain knit and ribbed varieties are sharing favor about equally.

The heather mixtures, especially in brown and green, appear to be the choice. The novelty designs are well liked, but most of these stockings are in dual tones.

should be between the place where they are washed and the dining-room table, and the kitchen stove and the kitchen sink should be as near together as possible. Dishes and utensils in constant use should be kept near at hand in easy reach, not necessitating stooping or stretching. Cleaning materials, and salt, pepper, flour and sugar, beveled at the time, should be conveniently placed. Sometimes a shelf, a nail, a hook, put in the right place, will save hours of work in a week. Some reduce the number of trips from dining room to kitchen by five to a meal. Cast an inquiring eye at your kitchen arrangements and make your head save your heels—it is as good for your head as your heels.

The campaign of the National Woman's party for ratification of the suffrage amendment has cost to date $115,000. They estimated at least $150,000 was spent to get the thirty-sixth State, some of which is still to be raised. Miss Mary E. Burnham of Philadelphia, with $14,000, was the largest contributor to the campaign fund.

New Underwear.

THE modern process of elimination has brought about the two-in-one garment and the three-in-one piece, designed to make one article of linen, crepe de chine, or chiffon do service for several pieces. There is, for instance, the knicker of satin attached to a fitted bodice-like camisole, from which hangs in turn a deep flounce of lace in lieu of the knee petticoat. A second model has the nether section shaped like a chemise envelope, but much wider, the sides slashed and trimmed with a flounce of fine lace. At the top the material is gathered into a deep self-band threaded with wide violet satin ribbon, the band flounced at the upper edge and attached to two wide bretelles of lace and chiffon—a wonderful model for wear with the evening gown, since the front and back of the upper part are free from fabric.

Statistics show that young women are leaving rural districts for the cities in larger numbers than the men.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Peter Visits His Runaway Son.

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

PETER RABBIT was both happy and troubled when he learned from Blacky the Crow that that runaway little rabbit was in Farmer Brown's hen yard. It made him happy to know that the little scamp was alive and well. It troubled him to know that he was a prisoner. You know there is nothing more dreadful to the little people of the Green Meadows and the Green Forest than to feel that they are prisoners; that they cannot go where they please when they please. All their lives they have had absolute freedom, and there is nothing in all the Great World more precious than freedom.

"Did he seem happy?" asked Peter of Blacky the Crow.

"He was kicking up his hind legs in the foolish way you Rabbits have of doing, so I guess he wasn't unhappy," replied Blacky. "I was too far away to talk to him, so I hurried right over here to tell you about him."

"Thank you, Blacky. Thank you," replied Peter. "In a way you have taken a load from my mind. I don't mind telling you that I knew he had been caught by Farmer Brown's boy. I had hoped for the best, because I know that Farmer Brown's boy is a true friend of us little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows. Still, not knowing just what he had done with that little scamp of mine, I couldn't help being worried. It was good of you to come over here to tell me about him. I won't forget it, Blacky. I won't forget it. If ever I have a chance to do something for you you may count on me to do it."

Blacky's eyes twinkled. It struck him as truly funny that Peter should even think that he could possibly do anything for the sharp-eyed, keenest-witted rascal in all the Green Forest. But he was quite grave when he told Peter that it was no more than one friend should do for another, and he was glad if he had relieved Peter's mind a little. Then he bade Peter good-by and flew away to the Green Forest.

Peter could hardly wait for the Black Shadows to creep out from the Purple Hills that evening. You see he was so very, very anxious to go up to Farmer Brown's hen yard. But he knew that it wouldn't be best for him to do so until the Black Shadows had crept clear across the Green Meadows to Farmer Brown's hen yard.

At last Peter felt that it was safe to start and away he went, lipperty-lipperty-lip, as fast as his long legs could take him. Up past Johnny Chuck's house without stopping ran Peter. He didn't even pause at the old stone wall. Around back of Farmer Brown's barn he ran, and then very softly crept over to the hen yard. He crept softly and carefully because he wanted to make sure that Bowser the Hound was no where about.

When he reached the hen yard he went straight to the corner in which Blacky the Crow had told him to find a box there, sure enough, was the box. Peter stood on his hind legs and peeped through the wire netting of the hen yard. All was still in there. No one was to be seen. Lightly Peter thumped with his stout hind feet. Then he thumped a little louder.

At that second thump he thought he heard a faint reply from inside that box. Again Peter thumped this time louder than before. At once a funny little head with long ears was thrust out of the doorway in that box. Once again Peter thumped, this time lightly. It meant "all is well."

Out came his runaway son and hopped hurriedly over to the wire netting where Peter was sitting. A wide board ran around the bottom of the netting, and it was only by standing on his hind feet and stretching just as far as he could that that little Rabbit could reach the wire netting and poke his wobbly little nose through one of the holes. Peter lightly rubbed it with his nose and at the touch of those two noses all the happiness in the Great World seemed to have settled right there.

"Yes, Clothes are always smart over 'Stylish Stout' Corsets!"

Paris style bulletins declare for the natural waistline; for the straight silhouette in morning, afternoon and evening clothes!

"Stylish Stout" Corsets have been designed to provide just this foundation—they enable stout and near-stout women to wear the fashionable sort of clothes they hitherto have considered impossible.

These Corsets are the result of years spent in perfecting a new principle. They actually reduce the figure three to five inches; and give an appearance of twenty pounds lighter weight.

"Stylish Stout" Brassieres are the logical accompaniments to "Stylish Stout" Corsets.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

FATHER AND SON.

When Smith was twelve, or thereabouts,
Without a single quail or shiver
He used to help the ice go out
By riding on it down the river.
If Smith's young son upon a floe
Along the river should go sailing,
Inside the next two hours or so,
The kid would get an awful wailing.

When Smith was young, along in May
When swallows o'er the pond were skimming
He frequently would run away
And spend the afternoon in swimming.
If Johnny Smith should do the like
I. e., splash round in chilly water,
When he got home, the luckless tyke
Would get exactly what he oughter.

In early youth, Pa Smith would hitch
His sled behind a passing cutter,
And often finish in a ditch
Or land, in tatters in the gutter.
If Smith, the younger, did the same,
The rashly reckless little sinner,
That evening, penitent and lame,
Would go to bed without his dinner.

Yet Smith is old and well-to-do,
And even now, as age advances
He makes a lot of money through His aptitude for taking chances.
His offspring is a timid lad;
All sorts of trifling troubles fret him.
He never will be like his Dad,
Because the old man will not let him.

Why in the world should a young
